HOUSTON — Apollo 16's moon rocks were studied by geologists at the Houston Space Center. They said the mission had fulfilled several geologic objectives "beyond our wildest expectations." The geologists, in opening one bag of samples containing four rocks, said the four appeared unlike collections brought back by previous moon landing crews.

Submarine launched missile tested

LONDON — The International Institute for Strategic Studies reported the Soviet Union has flight tested a new submarine-launched ballistic missile with a range of more than 3,000 miles. The institute said Russia now seemed likely to catch up with America's substantial lead in missile carrying submarines.

Governors support Nixon

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS — The nation's Republican governors Monday tentatively approved a resolution supporting President Nixon's foreign and domestic policies but stopped short of direct endorsement for his escalation of bombing in Vietnam.

Senate supports USIA

WASHINGTON — The Senate gave the U.S. Information Agency a 57-15 vote of confidence Monday although it refused to furnish Congress with planning documents and one of its employees called Sen. J. William Fulbright "naive and stupid." The vote reversed a decision by the Foreign Relations Committee, which Fulbright heads, to cut USIA's budget from $200.2 million to $154.6 million.

House rejects tax changes

HARRISBURG — The House Monday rejected Senate changes in a bill setting up the machinery to give Pennsylvania a graduated income tax. The House vote was designed to send the proposed constitutional amendment into a House-Senate conference where the details of wording could be worked out. Leaders of both chambers have agreed to the plan. The amendment would revise the constitution article which says that all taxes "must be uniform upon the same classes of people."

Divorce bill amended

HARRISBURG — The House amended a controversial divorce reform bill Monday, placing it in position for a final vote today. The bill, sponsored by Rep. David Savitt, D-Philadelphia, would make living apart with the consent of both parties for at least one year grounds for divorce. The bill was defeated in the House Oct. 20, 1971, by a vote of 75-112. If it is defeated a second time, it cannot be re-voted again. The amendments inserted in the bill Monday would require any couple who filed for a divorce on the "living apart" grounds to have a third person verify that they had been separated for at least one year.

Times, Anderson win Pulitzer Prize

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Times won Monday the 1972 Pulitzer Prize for Public Service for its publication of the Pentagon Papers, which set off a national furor over the right of the press to publish secret government documents.

The award for general local reporting went to Richard Cooper and John Machacek of the Rochester Times-Union for their coverage of the Attica prison riot.

The prize for investigative reporting was awarded to four staffers of the Boston Globe—Timothy Leland, Gerard M. O'Neill, Stephen A. Kurkjian, and Ann DeSantis—for their exposure of widespread corruption in Somerville, Mass.

Other prizes were given to: —Peter R. Kann of the Wall Street Journal for coverage of the Indo-Pakistan War—the award for Reporting on International Affairs.

—David Kennerly of United Press International for Feature Photography, for his dramatic photographs of the Vietnam War.

—Horst Fass and Michael Laurent of Associated Press for Spot News Photography for their picture series "Death in Dacca".

—John Strohmeier of the Bethlehem (Pa.) Globe-Times for Distinguished Editorial Writing for his editorial campaign to reduce racial tension in Bethlehem.

—Jeffrey K. MacNelly of the Richmond News-Leader for Editorial Cartooning during 1971.

—Mike Royko, Chicago Daily News, for Distinguished Commentary for his columns.

—Frank Peters Jr., St. Louis Post-Dispatch, for Distinguished

Criticism in the field of music. Joseph P. Lash won the Pulitzer Prize for biography for his book, "Eleanor and Franklin," a study of the complex relationship of President Roosevelt and his First Lady.

In an unusual statement accompanying the announcement, the trustees of Columbia University said "In the trustees' deliberation on the 1972 Pulitzer Prizes, a majority of them had deep reservations about the timeliness and suitability of certain of the journalism awards."

"Had the selections been those of the trustees alone, certain of the recipients would not have been chosen." The statement by the trustees did not specify which journalist they would not have chosen.

The trustees may accept or reject recommendations of the Advisory Board composed primarily of journalists.

Leaders agree to modify positions

Nixon, Brezhnev pledge arms cut

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon and Soviet Party Leader Leonid Brezhnev have agreed to modify their positions in a major step toward negotiation of a strategic arms limitation treaty, the White House announced Monday.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler declined to describe any of the changes after disclosing that Nixon and Brezhnev pledged during "confidential exchanges" to give their negotiators new instructions that "can lead to an

SAIGON (UPI)—Quang Tri City, the northernmost provincial capital in South Vietnam, fell to the Communists early today handing the government its worst loss of the 32-day-old North Vietnamese offensive, field reports said.

Senior South Vietnamese officers and about 80 U.S. advisers Monday abandoned Quang Tri, leaving behind 10,000 elite government troops and 40 American volunteers to be "killed or captured" by North Vietnamese troops taking over the city.

In Saigon, U. S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton Abrams, American commander in the war zone, held an emergency one hour meeting with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu. Spokesmen refused to give details of the discussion.

The fall of Quang Tri, 18 miles south of the demilitarized zone, set off panic in Hue, South Vietnam's third largest city 32 miles further south.

Communist soldiers gained full control of Quang Tri with South Vietnamese Marines, the only government fighting force still intact, withdrawing to the south with their five American advisers, field reports said.

Quang Tri was the first provincial capital seized by the Communists although they held parts of Hue for 28 days during the Tet offensive in 1968.

The loss of Quang Tri was the worst of the war for the South Vietnamese and the largest victory for the Communists in the current offensive which began March 30.

The next big South Vietnamese outpost in the north is the city of Hue, 32 miles to the south. The former imperial capital, now three times its normal size because of an influx of refugees, may be the next major communist target.

"They (South Vietnamese troops and American advisers) will either be killed or captured or somehow manage to sneak through NVA (North Vietnamese Army) lines, but there's really not much hope for them to escape," one U.S. officer told UPI correspondent Stewart Kellerman in Hue.

"Going down Highway 1 (toward Hue) is going to be a little like the German retreat from Russia in World War II. They're going to get slaughtered all the way down," the officer said.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam, Communist troops attacked several locations in the Central Highlands in an apparent attempt to chop up the northern half of South Vietnam and cut the country in two.

Communists also took over the northern one-third of Binh Dinh province and its 250,000 people with the capture of the district capital of Tam Quan. Sappers blew a bridge near Saigon separating a regiment of government troops from the capital.

Senior U.S. advisers in Hue said about 80 Americans were evacuated but about 40, mostly Marines, asked to stay behind to fight with a unit of South Vietnamese marines—the last effective fighting force in the area.

U.S. military sources said 49 top South Vietnamese officers were evacuated from Quang Tri, including the 3rd Division commander, Brig. Gen. Vu Van Giai.

U.S. officers said Giai lost contact with one after another of the six units he was commanding and "began throwing temper tantrums because he didn't have control over his own people."

It was not clear how many South Vietnamese officers remained with the troops.

A U.S. spokesman said the American advisers were evacuated because the command structure disintegrated.

Small businesses exempt from wage, price controls

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government, trying to free manpower to watch over the nation's biggest companies and unions, lifted wage and price controls Monday on five million small businesses and 19 million of their workers.

In the largest exemption action since Phase II began Nov. 14, the Cost of Living Council announced that companies and local government units with 60 or fewer employees would be free of both price and wage controls.

The exemption did not include health service or construction industry firms with 60 or fewer workers and the Council said these still presented serious inflationary problems. Also left under wage controls were firms with 60 or fewer workers, half of whom are paid under "master employment contracts" affecting larger groups of workers.

The Council emphasized that the "action is not designed as a step toward (total) decontrol," but said that it wanted to cut red tape for small businesses.

The Council said half of the 3,000 Internal Revenue Service personnel who have been assigned to enforce Phase II's economic controls have been devoting their time to the small businesses that are now exempt. This has created administrative difficulties "in excess of the anti-inflationary value of the controls," the Council said.

The small firms and governmental units involved are expected to cooperate with the program's goals anyway, the Council said, and in any case, they were in a follow-the-leader position behind larger companies.

The exemptions will enable it to allocate its staff and time better "and provide for closer supervision of and service for the larger economic units remaining under control," the Council said.

James A. Gavin, legislative director of the National Federation of Independent Businesses, hailed the exemption for small businesses as "long overdue." He said it would relieve small firms of tremendous paperwork and free the IRS agents to deal with "giant" business.

Judge voids mine election

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A federal judge Monday threw out the 1969 re-election of United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle on grounds the union denied since-murdered insurgent Joseph A. "Joey" Yablonski a fair chance in the nationwide balloting.

U.S. District Judge William B. Bryant, in a 33-page decision, said the 190,000-member union showed "little regard...for the requirement that the election be had by a secret ballot."

He also cited the union for allowing campaigning in the polling area, interference with Yablonski observers, and use of the union's trade newspaper to push the Boyle candidacy.

Under Landrum-Griffin labor laws, the union must immediately begin preparations for a new vote, even while an appeal is being made. Boyle's term was to expire in April, 1975.

A union spokesman said the UMWA would not have any immediate comment.

Also affected by the decision were the re-elections of UMWA Vice President George J. Titler, and Secretary-Treasurer John Owens, as well as international auditors.

The December, 1969, balloting came after a bitter campaign in which Yablonski accused the Boyle organization of numerous violations of the labor laws. Less than a month after the election, Yablonski, his wife and daughter were murdered at their Clarksville, Pa., home.

One defendant in the murder case, Mrs. Paul Gilly, has implicated Boyle in connection with the slayings in her confession. The 67-year-old labor leader has not been charged, however.

Bryant said in his decision that to uphold the union's defense against the charges brought by the Labor Department "the court would be forced to swim upstream against the tide of evidence too strong to resist."

"There is evidence tending to prove that in many cases Yablonski's observers were thwarted in their activities," the judge said.

State restricts subdivisions until official plan adopted

BY ANDREA B. STERN
Pocono Record Reporter

STROUDSBURG — As of May 15, state approval will be withheld for construction on all lots under one acre in size in all new subdivisions or new sections of existing subdivisions throughout Monroe County.

The state Environmental Quality Board's newly adopted revisions of the Sewage Facilities Act of 1967 becomes effective on that date, and the EQB intends to enforce them.

The new regulations restrict the issuance of permits for individual or community sewerage systems in any municipality throughout the state that does not have an adopted and approved official sewerage plan.

To date no municipality in Monroe County has such a plan.

The revisions define a subdivision as the division of an original parcel of land into three or more lots and now requires each municipality to submit an adopted and approved amendment to its official plan for each subdivision.

Douglas Blazey, attorney for the state's Anti-Pollution Strike Force which will enforce the act and its new revisions, said these required amendments could be prepared by the developer for the municipality.

Single lots exempt

Single lots and previously approved subdivisions where at least one home has been sold will not be affected, provided the lots meet the prescribed soil and design standards, according to Blazey.

He noted commercial and industrial plans will be judged according to the number of domestic units and projected volume of sewage, noting a building that would serve three or more families would encounter the same restrictions as a subdivision.

Where lots are one acre or larger in size and a replacement system could be provided in case the first sewerage system fails, permits will be issued to prevent individuals from being penalized, according to Blazey.

He explained the reasoning for this is that one acre or more sized lots "with one good system and a replacement can go a long time" before requiring public sewerage. "But in a small, tighter development, this is unlikely."

Blazey further stressed the new restrictions only affect on-site systems and not the construction of sewerage treatment plants.

Outlining the new revisions, William Middendorf, director of the state Bureau of Community Environmental Control, explained they will, for the first time, regulate the use of holding tanks (water-tight receptacles that retain sewage) in developments where septic tanks are not suitable and where the density of population does not yet require a treatment plant.

Notification

Middendorf said he expects the bureau to notify every municipality within the state about the new revisions by the end of the week and added municipal enforcement officers who will issue the permits will be required to complete specially designed training programs.

Queried about the new regulations, Walter Fox, an official with the state health department in Stroudsburg, said, "It's what we've been searching for for a long time — not the ban but some good planning and some follow-up implementation."

Contending both Monroe and Pike counties will face the same restrictions after May 15, Fox said, in 1967, Monroe County requested and received resolutions from all of its municipalities giving it the authorization to prepare a county-wide official plan on their behalf.

Toward that end, the Monroe County Planning and Zoning Commission, funded by a $19,000 federal grant, authorized the R.F. Weston consulting firm to prepare a sewage study for the western portion of the county.

County officials had hoped the Weston study coupled with the Tocks Island Region Environmental Study (TIREES), which encompasses the eastern portion of the county and was prepared by the Delaware River Basin Commission, would together serve as a comprehensive and official plan.

Fox stipulated several additional feasibility studies will be required to have the Weston and TIREES reports qualify as official, but added these could probably be completed within two months.

"The basic studies are already completed and it would require a lot of work on behalf of the planning commission to pull the two studies together and decide what the official plan will be, but it wouldn't have to take very long," he maintained.

Fox further indicated the official plan that is finally adopted by the county will have to be adopted by each municipality as well.

Grand jury indicts Ford, GM for cutting competition

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A federal grand jury Monday indicted General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. on charges of conspiring to eliminate price concessions and restrict competition in the sale or lease of automobiles to the fleet market.

Acting Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst said a two-count indictment was returned against the nation's two largest auto manufacturers in U.S. District Court in Detroit. A civil suit was filed at the same time.

(In Detroit, GM said it "unequivocally denies the charges (and) will seek an immediate trial on the merits. We are confident General Motors will be vindicated and the government's accusations will be shown to have no basis in fact.")

The fleet market, which consists of large volume automobile purchasers, accounted for approximately 12 per cent of the new cars registered in the United States in 1969, the government said. During that year, about 1 million automobiles worth some $2.5 billion were sold or leased in the fleet market.

General Motors and Ford currently account for about 75 per cent of the automobiles sold or leased in the fleet market.

The National Automobile Dealers Association—a trade association of new car dealers franchised by the automobile manufacturers—and Peterson, Howell & Heather Inc., the nation's largest automobile leasing company, were named as co-conspirators in both the indictment and the civil suit, but were not indicted.

Both charged that General Motors and Ford have combined and conspired with the association, the leasing company, and with unidentified others, to unreasonably restrain and monopolize the manufacture, sale and distribution of automobiles for fleet use.

Acting Assistant Attorney General Walker B. Comegys, chief of the Antitrust Division, said the alleged conspiracy ended a period of price competition which had previously existed among General Motors, Ford and Chrysler Corp. in the fleet market.

Sadat predicts two million deaths in Egypt-Israeli war

CAIRO (UPI)—President Anwar Sadat said Monday the Soviet Union has promised sufficient backing to enable Egypt to go to war with Israel, and he predicted at least two million may die in the conflict.

"I am ready to sacrifice a million men for the battle," he said, "and Israel should be prepared to sacrifice a million or more."

Speaking from Alexandria in a May Day rally speech broadcast nationally, Sadat reviewed his two-day visit to Moscow last week and cited a joint communique he issued with Kremlin leaders as proof of Soviet support.

For the first time, the Soviet Union endorsed Egypt's right to regain by means other than political settlement its lands lost to Israel in the 1967 Middle East War. Sadat said he had rejected a new U.S. initiative for working out a peaceful settlement.

"Soviet backing means that we shall get within a reasonable time the necessary strength to liberate our land," Sadat said. "The value of (Soviet) aid is that it shortens the time needed (to prepare for war) and spares us the effort."

Sadat told the cheering rally that Egypt already has spent the equivalent of $10 billion in preparation for the next war.

"In the next battle, liberation of our land will not be enough," Sadat said. "We must smash Israel's arrogance which has continued for 23 years."

The president said that, although the Soviet Union was extending aid and backing, the Egyptians themselves will fight the war.

"Our interest in Soviet support does not mean that we underestimate the necessity of relying on ourselves," he said. "It is we who shall fight, and not the Soviet Union. It is we who shall pay the price."

Sadat gave no details on the new U.S. initiative other than to say it was delivered earlier this year and "was not worth answering." He described U.S. Middle East policy as "deception, trickery and treachery."

Arab diplomatic sources said the initiative had suggested Egypt enter into indirect talks with Israel through U.S. Assistant Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco, who previously had been a Middle East go-between.

Actress Gia Scala dies at 38

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Gia Scala, green-eyed actress of the 1950s whose life in recent years was marred by personal problems, died of an overdose of narcotics and alcohol, an autopsy showed Monday.

The coroner's office ruled that the death Sunday night of the 38-year-old Miss Scala was accidental. She also suffered from a coronary condition, officials said.

A native of Liverpool, England, the actress—whose real name was Giovanna Scoglio—was the daughter of an Italian father and Irish mother.

Never a star, Miss Scala's principal screen appearances were in "The Guns of Navarone," "Don't Go Near the Water" and "Never Say Goodbye."

Her body was discovered late Sunday night by Larry Langston, 21, one of several youths staying at Miss Scala's home.

Police said the actress' nude body was found on her bed. Several bottles of medication and empty liquor bottles were found in the bedroom, officers said. An autopsy was scheduled.

Candidates in head-on battle

Muskie camp supports Humphrey

By United Press International
Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, slugging it out with Sen. George S. McGovern for Ohio's big convention delegation, picked up some Muskie camp support Monday in his head-on battle with Gov. George C. Wallace in the Indiana presidential primary.

Ohio's 153 delegates to the Democratic National Convention was the biggest prize in Tuesday's primaries there and in Indiana, Alabama and the District of Columbia.

With McGovern and Humphrey the top contenders in the Buckeye state, Humphrey picked up some badly needed help in Indiana when early bird supporters of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, now an inactive candidate, gave the former vice president their 11th hour endorsement.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., once a presidential hopeful himself, issued a statement late Monday declaring his support for Humphrey. Within the hour, Rep. Andrew Jacobs Jr., who earlier announced for Muskie, said he would vote for the Minnesota lawmaker.

Bayh emphasized that he still has "a personal commitment to Sen. Muskie," but he said the Indiana campaign "boils down to a Humphrey-Wallace confrontation" and Humphrey is "better qualified, better experienced and would make a better president" than the Alabama governor.

Jacobs, in a stronger statement, said, "whatever differences I have with Sen. Humphrey—and they are many—they do not begin to approach the depth of my differences with Gov. Wallace, with subtle appeals to racial division and hate."

In Wallace's home state today, voters will decide between a slate of convention delegates committed to him and an uncommitted slate. In the District of Columbia, none of the major candidates were on the primary ballot.

In Ohio, McGovern accused President Nixon of shying away from programs to curb industrial accidents and proposed an eight-point program to help factory workers. In Cleveland, he picked up the support of two United Auto Workers leaders who initially endorsed Sen. Edmund S. Muskie.

In Toledo, Humphrey charged the administration with demanding "selective and discriminatory sacrifice to control runaway inflation."

Anderson testifies

FBI prepared bedtime reading

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Syn-dicated columnist Jack Anderson testified under oath Monday that the FBI prepared reports on the sex lives of the "high and mighty" for the bedtime reading of former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Anderson also accused President Nixon of personally lying to congressional leaders about his India-Pakistan policy and said the administration "lies through its teeth" over such matters as the whereabouts of foreign affairs adviser Henry Kissinger.

Anderson made the charges in an appearance before the House Government Information subcommittee, currently reviewing the workings of the Freedom of Information Law. He talked mostly about what he claimed was the unjustified secrecy surrounding many foreign policy and defense actions.

But he told the congressmen there was another kind of activity that was kept secret—one he said should not be conducted in the first place.

"At home the executive branch conducts secret investigations of prominent Americans," Anderson said. "Their sex lives, drinking habits and personal affairs have come under FBI scrutiny, although the FBI has no jurisdiction nor justification for this kind of snooping. A love affair, no matter how sordid, is no business of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Yet FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover has demonstrated an intense interest in who is sleeping with whom in Washington."

Service families brought together

TOBYHANNA — MARS AA3WCQ is alive and listening.

AA3WCQ are the call letters of the Military Affiliate Radio Station at Tobyhanna Army Depot. It's chief operator is 18-year Army veteran Sgt. Carl Posey, who listens in daily to conversations which originate half-way around the world.

He would prefer not to intrude on the intimate talk between soldiers and their families, but it's all part of the job, he says, explaining "To switch from one party to the other, I have to wait for the word 'over' and I can't do that unless I'm tuned in."

The other afternoon a reporter was allowed to listen too. The calls, from servicemen in Thailand, were to mothers, wives and girlfriends in Texas, Georgia, Ohio, Maryland and Michigan.

In the course of an average week, Sgt. Posey also helps arrange calls to such faroff states as Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona.

Besides Thailand, he deals regularly with affiliate radio stations in Vietnam and Korea.

The chief advantage for servicemen is the small cost involved. A 3-minute station-to-station call from Vietnam to Stroudsburg, for example, is $9, with $3 for each additional minute. With military radio, the only charge is from Stroudsburg to the family's home.

Sgt. Posey says he averages about 125 calls a week, but the three-set depot unit can handle much more traffic. A chart displayed in the station shows month-to-month statistics on calls placed and completed. March 1970 represents the all-time high for AA3WCQ, with 1,242 completions of 1,883 calls placed.

The sergeant notes: "At that time, lots of volunteers from the local phone company were helping out in their spare time. They'd come up evenings and weekends."

It seems the telephone girls became so enthused about the morale value of the calls, they decided to assist at the depot radio station too.

As to why so many calls are not completed, Sgt. Posey explains, "The party being called is not home when it's placed." The official term for these incompletions is D.A. (Don't Answer).

Does he ever get embarrassed listening to the intimate conversations between husbands and their wives?

"The conversations don't get that gushy, maybe because they know someone is listening," he laughs, and adds: "A fellow may call to advise his wife about his income tax, to let her know he's coming back from overseas, to check on the children, or just to hear her voice."

Musical slated for Bangor High

BANGOR — The first sing of spring has arrived at Bangor Area Sr. High School. We haven't seen a crocus or a rosebud as the song goes, but we've seen an even more certain sign.

Mrs. Natalie B. Ziegler of the Drama Department and William Stone of the Music Department have gone into high gear in preparation for their third all-school musical. A joint venture of the two departments, this year's show will be "Anything Goes."

An "oldie," guaranteed to bring a touch of nostalgia for an era in which life seemed to be so simple and musical comedies were just what the name implied, "Anything Goes" is one of the best. It's witty, bright, exhilarating, and filled with memorable songs to whistle or hum on the way home.

The plot involves the results of the coming together of a most unlikely group of shipmates on a luxury liner. Consider the possibilities of a random group whose members include a fugitive gangster impersonating a minister, a night club queen-turned evangelist (complete with a troupe of tap-dancing "angels"), a British nobleman, a nimble-witted playboy, and a beautiful American heiress and her mother, and you have an idea of the fun that's in store. The tunes by Cole Porter include such favorites as "I Get a Kick Out of You," "Friendship" and "Blow, Gabriel, Blow."

The production will be presented on May 12, 13, 19, and 20.

Not all the conversations are in English. Sgt. Posey notes that when a serviceman is phoning his foreign-born parents, the talk may be in Polish, German, Italian or even Chinese. He instructs them all to say "Over" in English, however.

The depot station also places emergency calls overseas for the Red Cross, but they constitute only a small portion of AA3WCQ's work.

One recent call involved a family in Wilkes-Barre, who wanted to confirm the injury of their son, a master sergeant wounded a few days before he was due to return home.

"They refused to believe it after they were notified," says Sgt. Posey.

Often, an unfavorable atmospheric situation limits radio transmission, forcing the servicemen to place their calls at odd hours. "There's a 12-hour difference between Vietnam and the states," Stationed at Tobyhanna

Pen Argyl gives tentative okay to proposed $2,616,979 budget

PEN ARGYL — At the regular meeting of the Pen Argyl Area School Board recently tentative approval of a proposed budget for the school year 1972-73 of $2,616,979 was given with the provision the school tax program remain the same as that of 1971-72.

June 6, 1972, was the date set for final adoption of the school budget and tax resolution. The board also approved and adopted the Northampton County Area Community College budget for 1972-73.

The resignation of Mrs. Mary L. Jeffery, an elementary teacher in the Pen Argyl Area School District for 40 years, was accepted effective June 30, 1972.

The resignation of Mrs. Irene Young, second grade teacher at the Plainfield Elementary School was not accepted when the board vote was deadlocked 4 to 4.

The board created the position of Elementary Library Instructional Aide and appointed Mrs. Marie Bilheimer to fill the position. Mrs. Bilheimer has been serving as a non-instructional aide and has completed the necessary college requirements to qualify her as an instructional aide.

The board also created an additional second grade teaching position. During the current school year it was necessary to add another second grade teacher. Continued high enrollments necessitated the placing of this position on a permanent basis.

Mrs. Sherry Heard was elected as an elementary teacher in the Pen Argyl Area School District effective September 1, 1972. Mrs. Heard had been formerly employed as a Title I Reading teacher and has been working as a full time staff member this year.

The board approved Frances Bond, Wind Gap, as a Cafeteria Substitute and Bridella Cuono, West Bangor, as a Non-Instructional Aide Substitute.

The board authorized Dr. Kresge to employ secretarial help for the summer school program which begins June 23 and ends August 4.

It was recommended and moved that the board purchase permanent rubber matting from the James C. Dittman Co. at a cost of $920.20 to be placed under the playground equipment in the black top area of the New Wind Gap Elementary School.

However since there is some question concerning the quality of the concrete foundations holding the playground equipment in place, the motion was amended to include instructions that the work not be done until the concrete foundations be repaired. It was then referred to the Building and Grounds Committee for further study and a report made at the next board meeting.

A maintenance agreement with the Addressograph Multigraph Corporation for the Electrostatic Copier was approved at a quarterly fee of $166.04 for the next three months after which time an annual fee of $638.64 will be paid.

Advertising for bids of athletic equipment and supplies was also approved.

Current total enrollment in the Pen Argyl Area School District is 2049 with 1075 students attending the elementary schools and 974 attending the secondary schools.

Dr. Kresge indicated that the elementary enrollment next year could exceed 1100.

Frank Fiorot recommended all future regular meetings of the board be recorded on cassette tape and be kept as an accurate record of proceedings at each meeting. The board adopted the recommendation.

It was also recommended and approved that the board continue its policy of paying its treasurer $120 per year salary and that Mr. Stanley Snyder, currently acting as treasurer, be paid $60 for his services between December, 1971 and June, 1972.

Allen H. Jackson, Assistant to the Superintendent, reported that letters were sent to the parents of secondary students concerning serving breakfast to early arrivals in the morning. Of the small percentage of letters returned an overwhelming majority of parents feel that the service was not needed.

Committee to meet in area

WILKES BARRE — The Bicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania will hold its ninth regional meeting on Wednesday, May 3rd, at 2:00 p.m., at the Luzerne County Courthouse in Wilkes-Barre.

Representatives from the seven Northeastern counties including: Carbon, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Monroe, Pike, Schuylkill, and Wayne counties, will discuss the roles of the counties in the upcoming Pennsylvania Bicentennial celebration.

The May 3rd meeting is the ninth of ten scheduled regional meetings around the state, according to Mr. Arthur V. Harris, Chairman of the Committee on Local Participation. Through these conferences, the Committee hopes to stimulate and coordinate county participation in the Commonwealth's celebration of the nation's 200th anniversary.

The Bicentennial meeting will take place in the Commissioners' Meeting Room of the Luzerne County Courthouse on North River and North Streets in Wilkes-Barre. The local participants at Wednesday's meeting will represent historical, civic, and cultural groups in their respective counties.

Meeting date changed

TRACHSVILLE — The United Church of Christ Choirs of the Trachsville Church will meet on Wednesday instead of today.

The junior choir will meet at 7 p.m. and the senior choir at 7:30 p.m.

Pike officials break dead-lock

MILFORD — During their meeting on Monday, the Pike County Commissioners supervised a drawing to break a dead-lock for the office of Democratic County Committee in Lackawaxen Township which occurred at the April 25 Primary.

The dead-lock resulted when Charles Benjamin and Paul Kowalezyk, each received 60 votes for the third committeemen position to be filled.

Kowalezyk, a former committeemen, won the drawing over Benjamin, an incumbent.

The commissioners Chairman George Coutts and member Warner M. Deputy and James R. Duffy, Jr., proclaimed May 7 to 14 as "Soil Stewardship Week."

Mrs. Marian Almquist of Dingman Township was reappointed a member of the county health board. During the session tax collectors from the boroughs and townships met with the county officials to make their final settlements on 1971 taxes.

It was voted to send $295 as a partial payment to the Economic Development Council of Northeastern Pennsylvania. The county allocation for the council is five cents per capita and $591 has been budgeted for the organization.

Juvenile dept. deserves hearing

From the rumblings of further factionalism within the East Stroudsburg Police Department has come a darned sound idea — a juvenile services bureau within the department.

The concept is a good one, and the state is willing to kick in $5,000 as its share of the operation. The local contribution will be roughly twice the state share, still a good bargain from our point of view.

A glance at the court docket reveals that juvenile problems are still on the increase. While East Stroudsburg's police aren't to be faulted for their efforts in this area, it is a good idea to consolidate juvenile matters into one office, albeit a small one.

Police have to be concerned with a number of problems, of which juvenile delinquency is only one. Freeing one man to deal exclusively with juveniles gives the department a leg up on one of the biggest obstacles to dealing successfully with juvenile matters — keeping tabs on what's happening within the separate world of the under-17-year-old.

One man given charge of that responsibility could serve as a clearing house for what is going on within that young world and perhaps enable him and his colleagues to deal swiftly with what could grow into a serious situation. As an example, two juveniles have committed suicide within the borough in the last few months. Could those deaths have been averted if someone had been on top of the situation? Maybe.

One way of finding out is to file the application for funds for the program, adopt it, staff it and give it a trial.

We are pleased the borough council hasn't written off the proposal because of the internal conflicts that apparently threatened it to the point of Mayor E.H. Staples asking to withdraw it.

The juvenile problem, as with many others, won't go away by being ignored. The juvenile department proposal sounds like a good way to do something concrete about the problem.

What should be in mind are the problems of our youth. What should be least considered is the source of the proposal, or the infighting surrounding it. That's another matter, to be dealt with separately, and certainly not at the expense of better police department operations.

Police mean help

We would like to add our congratulations to those of State Police Commissioner Rocco P. Urella, who presented a letter of commendation to Trooper Delvin E. Powell of the Stroudsburg State Police barracks last week.

Trooper Powell was honored for plunging into an icy McMichaels Creek last March to save the life of a man injured in an automobile accident and floating helplessly in the rushing waters.

It was a courageous act, yes. But it also was a selfless act to disregard his safety to bring succor to one in need. Granted, Trooper Powell gets paid to do his job — but such a job! It isn't one many men would take to readily.

Police may be abused for a variety of real or imagined offenses, but those actions that affront us occasionally pale beside the routine way these men devote the greatest part of their time, effort and humanity to helping others.

To some people, the sight of a police car means trouble. Usually, they have asked for it. But for most of us, the sight of police means help is on the way. For these men, those like Trooper Powell, we give thanks... and again, congratulations.

Merry-go-round

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The sewage that ships dump into the open sea often washes up on the shore.

President Nixon, for one, has had personal experience with this problem at his Florida beach house where maritime wastes have fouled his swimming area.

To fight beach and harbor pollution, he assigned the Navy as the "lead agency" to set an example of maritime sanitation to the world's ships.

A 1978 deadline was set for the Navy to stop the discharge of sewage, garbage, oil and other debris into the sea. Locked in the Navy's confidential files, however, is sad evidence that this billion-dollar program is failing.

The Navy had counted heavily upon a complicated sewage system manufactured by Fairbanks-Morse. But Rear Admiral Nathan Sonenshein, the ships (cq) commander, has complained in a "Point Paper" to Admiral Elmo Zumwalt, the Navy chief, that the new sewage equipment is "unreliable" and "not operating" in the test ship USS Conopus.

Indeed, the failure of the sewage disposal units could cause a smelly incident at Holy Loch, Scotland, where the Conopus has been berthed.

Navy odor

"In the interests of congenial relations with the British," Sonenshein warned the Navy's top admiral, "it is vital that these units be put back into operation as early as feasible."

On top of the "unacceptable reliability" of the new sewage units, they also take up too much room. This will have "significant impact on military performance...in the smaller, high population density ships," warns the documents. Old sea dogs are also spluttering over a plan to pull out guns to make room for sewage units on some destroyers.

All the trouble with the Fairbanks-Morse equipment has forced the Navy to fall back, at least temporarily, upon a system of "holding tanks." The tanks are supposed to retain all sewage while the ships are within 50 miles of the shore. Then, in theory, the sewage is supposed to be dumped at the pier when the ships dock.

Unfortunately, most piers aren't equipped to handle the sewage or, for that matter, the bigger naval vessels. To get around this, the Navy plans to spend millions to build special "lighter-barges for each naval port."

The Navy's sea-sewage experts explain delicately that the lighters will "collect and transfer...shipboard wastes" to shore. But the shipboard salts, less delicately, are already referring to the lighters as "honey barges" and "doughnuts."

Summing up, the Navy documents concede that, on the one hand, their sewage units are a flop and, on the other, there are persistent "political pressures to demonstrate accomplishments."

Refugee deaths

We reported on February 6 that U.S. officials in Vietnam had covered up rampant malnutrition, exposure, tuberculosis and pneumonia in three refugee camps.

As a result, 350 displaced Montagnard tribesmen, mostly the old and the young, perished while U.S. officials shuffled papers.

When word of the refugee conditions reached the headquarters of U.S. pacification chief William Colby, the facts were swept under the plush rugs of the U.S. offices in Saigon.

The number of deaths, ironically, were close to casualty totals in the infamous My Lai massacre. Yet, only Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., showed any concern.

In an outraged letter to AID Administrator John Hannah, the congressman demanded to know what had been done to punish those "directly responsible for the tragic deaths of 350 innocent people."

A few days ago, Hannah sent back an evasive, self-serving memo prepared by his Vietnam specialist, Robert H. Nooter. The memo reports that the Montagnards were transferred from their homes to the camps about January 1971, by Vietnamese military commanders over the objections of American pacification officials.

"Montagnards exist at a marginal subsistence level, and with any loss in nutritional level, the prevalent diseases of diarrhea, malaria, pneumonia, and tuberculosis can prevail," explains the memo.

The deaths began to occur shortly after the relocation, the memo adds. "Some 350 of the very old and very young" had died by the time higher American officials discovered the problem, it is contended.

Once discovered, "prompt and remedial actions were taken," the memo claims. The AID officials admit, however, that it was April before "the situation was in hand."

The officials tried to pass the buck to military authorities for hushing up the facts. Any suppression of reports, declares the memo, "would involve reporting by military personnel in Pleiku Province through military channels."

Eventually, Jack mastered who, what and where, but he was always forgetting when and how. So I typed out all five words for him on a little slip of paper and he pasted them on the bottom of his top desk drawer. Even to this day, whenever he sits down to write a great column of expose he first sneaks a glance into the drawer.

They say Jack Anderson is in 749 newspapers now, which is three more than I'm in myself. Which shows, I think, that there is slightly more demand for muck than there is for humor. (Let's face it, when it comes right down to it, I'm more of a humor-raker than a muck-raker.)

Pardon me for these reminiscences, but when one of your students goes out into the world and does well, it makes you proud. I'm equally proud of Art Buckwold, or Wuchbold, who used to call me all the time to find out how to spell "satire."

Letters to the Editor Opposes Catholic School aid

Editor, The Record:

It is quite shocking to see the letter to the editor appearing in your publication by Monsignor Paul J. Purcell objecting to freedom of the press.

The United States is the only country in the world where this freedom, as well as many other freedoms (such as separation of church and state), have been the law of the land since its present government was formed. I would suppose responsible freedom-loving citizens live here for these reasons and we must not destroy these precious freedoms.

It should not be a disappointment to any Roman Catholic to see any publication oppose aid by our government bodies to non-public schools. Such aid is forbidden by the laws of our land.

Parochial schools were established and have been operated without public funds by Roman Catholics for a very long time under the separation of church and state laws established by the constitution of federal and state governments.

The Record's recommendation that Catholic parochial schools close and be absorbed into the public school system has also been suggested by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's Fleishman Commission.

Jack Yorke, President of the National Association of (Roman Catholic) Laity (NAL) in addressing the bishops called upon his church's leadership to accept the closing of the Catholic school system.

Msgr. Purcell claims there is no constitutional problem in using public funds for his schools. "They are quite constitutional," he stated. Former President John F. Kennedy said "I believe in an America where separation of church and state is absolute — where no church is granted any public funds or political preference."

Voters everywhere, when given the opportunity on election ballots, as a subject in itself, voted "No" in large majorities when asked if public funds should be used for parochial school aid.

President Yorke of NAL in his address to the American Catholic Bishops said that in polls, referenda, commission reports and court decisions, "the American public has told you that there shall be no tax support for the Catholic schools."

The nation's highest court has repeatedly ruled "Neither a State nor the Federal Government can pass laws which aid one religion." "No tax, in any amount, large or small, can be levied to support any religious activities or institutions."

Leo Pfeffer, special counsel for the American Jewish Congress stated "no public funds for Parochial Schools."

Our United States President, state governors and legislators would betray the Constitution they are sworn to uphold if they attempt to pass a law providing public funds for any use by parochial schools.

Monsignor Purcell quoted Commissioner Sidney Marland as saying "The effort you (Roman Catholics) are making is worthwhile because—United States Catholic education exerts a strongly beneficial effect, etc."

Your publication, I feel, would not doubt this fact so why does he dwell so much on this subject? There is an aspect which he fails to identify when he states "We have not yet begun to fight." The director of Communications for the Roman Catholic Diocese of Manchester, N.H. contends that parochial schools are closing not because of financial trouble but due to a disappearance of "barriers." Father Philip Bruni concluded that "parents do not see the need any more for parochial schools."

Roman Catholic Bishop William E. McManus of the Chicago Arch Diocesan schools made this statement describing the Roman Catholic schools as in "a crisis of confidence" because these schools have been closing by the hundreds. The latest figures run close to 2,000. And, the drop in enrollment of one million in operating Catholic schools gave Bishop McManus good reason for his statement. According to the Rockefeller Fleishman Commission's findings Catholic school enrollment will further decline by 55 per cent between now and 1980. Parochial school enrollment, other than Catholic, is on the increase.

These closings and decline in enrollment represent something far deeper than a financial problem. The fact that Catholic parents choose to withdraw their children from tuition-free as well as a tuition-charge Catholic school and place them in public schools is certainly no reason for the state or federal government to step in and shore up a failing denominational school system.

The Pocono Record editorial of July 17 gives the true thought everyone should agree is the answer, i.e. "In all cases there is a public school available, usually more accessible, more diversified in what it offers and always paid for, in fair share, by those who choose not to use it. Those who choose thus (not to use it) know they must pay extra for the choice."

Questionable kudos

by Bob Groff

Courthouse row

Several local groups should be lauded for their performances this week. Through certain actions they have managed to dribble into the public's eye, and all of them should be proud. We take our hats off to the following:

First of all, the Stroudsburg Businessmen's Association deserves something for their pompous action concerning complete agreement with the Commonwealth's Sunday Closing Law.

Hiding behind a lot of fancy words, which they mimicked from the even more pretentious Pennsylvania Retailers' Association, the businessmen have decided to take away the right of free enterprise.

They said those who wished to open their doors on Sundays are seeking to exploit a competitive advantage. They claim opening on Sunday will impose hardships on employees and their families, and they claim such a thing would result in increased expenses for the taxpayers who would have to pay for additional governmental services on Sunday.

Last month they even went so far as to turn in a Stroudsburg merchant because he chose not to close his store on Sunday. Was the businessmen's association acting like a good law abiding citizen?

Nonsense! Stroudsburg businessmen are running scared. They are trying to have the law crack down on "Sunday merchants" for their own protection, and their own pocket-books.

Seems that a rumor has been circulating among the local store keepers that the new Grant store in East Stroudsburg may stay open for business on Sunday.

The merchants are afraid it will hurt them, and they are right. Stroudsburg merchants have had a monopoly for as long as many folks in Monroe County can remember, and now the merchants are afraid their gravy train might have run its course.

They have decided that in order to ston

Grant's from opening its doors on Sunday, they will have to crack down on the "little guy" first.

The association wants to keep Sunday "free from the pressures of commercial activity" for all the local citizens.

They also want to keep Sunday free from increased costs of doing business, which for them would be a "day of rest."

Thank you again for your concern, Stroudsburg businessmen.

And last, comes the East Stroudsburg Borough Council, and the borough Police Department.

Last week, charging that politics and personalities were again clashing between the two groups, Mayor E. H. (Barney) Staples announced that he was abolishing the infamous detective bureau and had withdrawn a request for a $5,000 grant from the state for the establishment of a full-time juvenile officer on the force.

After a year of name calling, raised voices and clenched fists, we thought the mayor, police department and borough council were on speaking terms again, civil speaking terms that is.

Now we find they aren't. Staples said several councilmen were against the juvenile program, and indicated the old members surrounding the establishment of the controversial detective bureau had again been fanned by some of its opponents.

Even though the council decided to consider the matter at greater length, and secured a week-long deadline extension to do just that, there is cause for alarm.

The hassle between the two bodies still exists, and that bodes no good for anyone.

We wonder when members of the two groups will begin to act like the grown men they have been telling everyone they are.

Stories Behind Words

By William Penfield

Fly-by-Night Operator

The term "fly-by-night operator" used to have a more literal meaning than it has today.

Sometimes a person with a fraudulent scheme came into a town and set up his operation. He stayed until he got as much of the townspeople's money as he could or until he thought it was no longer safe to remain there. Then, while the townspeople slept, he slipped out of town and went somewhere else to ply his scheme.

The expression was broadened to include anyone who works a fraud.

Seventh Heaven

When one says that he is in "seventh heaven," he means that he is in a state of pure delight, or in paradise.

The allusion is to a belief of the Mohammedans that there are seven heavens in ascending order, each better than the one before it, and that these heavens culminate in the seventh, or highest, one.

The Mohammedan belief was preceded by a similar one among Jews in pre-Christian times. It seems likely that the Jews acquired the belief from some other Middle Eastern people, probably the Babylonians.

Russia blasts U.S. at rally

Europe, Asia observe May Day

By United Press International

May Day, the traditional labor day holiday throughout Continental Europe, in Cuba and in parts of Asia, was celebrated Monday by parades, rallies, family outings and in a few cases of violent demonstrations.

One of the largest public gatherings took place in Moscow, where more than one million persons heard Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorniy denounce "U.S. aggression" in Indochina.

In Madrid, hundreds of police stopped a planned, left-wing demonstration and arrested dozens of persons.

In Manila, six persons were injured, one seriously, when six pillbox bombs exploded in front of a strike-bound garment firm during a student-labor march and demonstration.

A parade and speech by Cuban Premier Fidel Castro marked Havana's biggest May Day celebration in recent years, with a turnout of about 100,000 flag-waving workers.

Most of Europe was bathed in sunshine and the warmest temperatures of the year were recorded in some countries.

East Germany staged a military parade in East Berlin, which for the 16th consecutive year brought protesters from Berlin's Allied commandants who said the parade violated the Four-Power agreements on Berlin's demilitarization.

Thousands marched in parades organized by Communist and left-wing groups against American involvement in Indochina in Helsinki, Stockholm, Paris and Brussels.

In Vatican City Pope Paul VI said the Roman Catholic Church is a better friend and stronger ally of the working man than Communist governments who set aside May Day.

Traditional rallies were held in West Germany including one in the Ruhr city of Dortmund where Chancellor Willy Brandt renewed his plea for early ratification of his nonaggression treaties with Poland and the Soviet Union.

Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, Acting Chairman Tung Pi-wu, and other high-ranking officials celebrated May Day in Peking with more than 4,000 foreign guests from five continents.

In Japan, millions of workers took part in May Day rallies and demonstrations and called for the ouster of Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's cabinet. More than 250,000 persons attended one rally in Tokyo despite intermittent rains and strong winds.

Hundreds of thousands of South Koreans held anti-Communist rallies in Seoul and major provincial towns to denounce North Korea's latest peace offensive and called upon the Pyongyang government to push instead for peaceful reunification of Korea.

Housing official charged

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Mrs. Rose Wylie, an official of the Philadelphia Housing Authority and a member of President Nixon's National Rent Advisory Board, was scheduled for a hearing Monday afternoon on extortion charges.

The district attorney's office said Mrs. Wylie, 45, was accused of forcing a contractor to kick back $10,000 of a $40,000 contract on a federal anti-poverty contract.

Mrs. Wylie, widowed mother of six children, also is awaiting trial on charges made by city authorities last February that she fraudulently converted about $6,000 in Housing Authority checks and diverted the money to her own account.

Assistant District Attorney Harvey Semovitz told a news conference concerning the latest charge Monday that Mrs. Wylie forced contractor Robert Calabazana to pay her $10,000 for the contract he received to set up a "motivation school".

Mrs. Wylie's son, Aaron Blandon, 27, was named as a conspirator in the alleged extortion plot.

No tax for rich facts disputed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Assistant Treasury Secretary Edwin S. Cohen Monday defended the present tax system against critics who say that 100 Americans who earned $200,000 a year or more paid no income tax in 1970.

Testifying before the House Ways and Means Committee, Cohen did not dispute those figures. But he added, "What has not been said is that 15,300 people who had incomes of $200,000 or higher in 1970 paid an average tax of $175,000."

"We pulled out the cases of 12 people with $200,000 or more income in 1970 and who paid no tax and we found that they paid a total of $20 million in taxes on 1969 income," he said.

"A handful of peculiar cases does not indicate that the system is a sieve," added Cohen, the assistant treasury secretary for tax policy.

The committee is considering bills introduced by Reps. Edward I. Koch and William F. Ryan, both D-N.Y., that would create a uniform tax rate for single and married taxpayers.

The Treasury's top tax expert, Cohen suggested that Congress might want to lower the federal income tax, standard deduction for single persons and raise it for married couples to meet what he conceded were inequities in present law.

"There can be no question that the present system does not provide perfect results in every instance," said Cohen.

Groups representing single persons have testified they pay 20 per cent more tax than a married couple filing a joint return. Married couples' spokesmen have shown they pay more taxes than do single persons living together.

Prior to the 1969 tax reform law, single persons were paying up to 42 per cent more than married couples.

Public can quiz leaders

HARRISBURG (UPI) — Three Republican legislative leaders will appear live on a question-and-answer television program Thursday night to give Pennsylvanians a chance to ask questions about state government.

"Ask your Republican Leadership" will be carried on the public broadcasting network from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Viewers can ask questions of the GOP leaders by dialing a toll free number: 900-234-0936.

The three legislators, Sen. Stanley G. Stroup, GOP whip in the Senate; Sen. Wilnot E. Fleming, Republican policy committee chairman, and Rep. Kenneth B. Lee, GOP floor leader in the House, said the program's intent is to give the people the straight facts about state government.

"The intent of this program is to give the people of the state a chance to ask questions regarding the operation of their state government, and is in our intent to give them direct and specific answers that will not be clouded with political innuendo, but will stick strictly to the facts," they said.

Hiring of women on increase

HARRISBURG (UPI) — Henry C. Adams, director of the governor's rights task force said Monday hiring of women and minority group members is on the rise throughout state government.

Adams said the number of minority group employees increased by 1,034 during a four month period starting in December and the number of women employed by the state jumped 2,300.

"Generally the departments have not shown much movement in the hiring of minority group individuals and women," he said.

Adams said hiring plans by nine state agencies have been approved.

Negotiators agree on contract

Milk strike ends after it starts

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A strike by some 2,000 milk drivers and dairy employees ended about two hours after it began Monday when Teamsters negotiators and officials of the Greater Pittsburgh Milk Dealers Association agreed on a new contract.

A final agreement was reached about 7:45 a.m. following night-long efforts by Teamsters 205 president William Lickert and the dealers to avert a walkout which would have halted milk deliveries to homes, stores and institutions in a seven-county area of southwestern Pennsylvania.

At 6 a.m. pickets were set up at several of the 24 area milk plants but they were told to return to work immediately after the pact was agreed upon, Lickert said.

The two-year contract provides hourly wages of $6 in the first year and $6.25 in the second year for wholesale drivers. Retail drivers receive a $10 per week increase on base pay in both years of the contract. Plant employees receive hourly increases of 30 cents in both years of the pact.

The contract also provides improved health and life insurance benefits, improved vacations and paid birthday vacations. Lickert said the firms agreed to pay $13.85 weekly in to the union's pension program.

The milk dealers also agreed to retain a six-day delivery schedule with a five-day work week, thus continuing jobs for about 150 drivers. The issue had been a major factor in contract talks.

Officials for both sides had said Milk Marketing Board price limits had also provided a big obstacle in the talks.

Creamer urges attorneys to spearhead poverty fight

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Attorney General J. Shane Creamer Monday urged Allegheny County lawyers to lead an attack on "the fountainhead of crime — poverty."

Creamer, addressing a "Law Day" session, said until poverty is controlled, the county will continue to be plagued by a crime crisis.

"Wherever increasing problems of unemployment, inadequate education, discrimination, idleness, neglect, alcoholism and drug addiction, bad housing and health care develop," he said, "fear and crime follow."

"Our reforms within the system will be for naught if at the same time society as a whole, fails to take vigorous action to deal meaningfully with the fountainhead of crime—poverty."

Noting that half the court cases in Philadelphia are delayed at the request of prosecutors, Creamer said district attorneys should carefully consider if they have enough evidence to try a case.

"The decision must be made solely on the basis of the evidence, without regard to any other facts," he said. "The temptation to go after the little man for the sake of statistics rather than to tackle corruption and organized crime at its highest level must be resisted, and sound policies of quality rather than quantity prosecutions maintained."

Creamer said the most serious problems facing the criminal justice system are understaffed police forces and district attorneys offices, inadequate jails, backlogs in the courts, and general distrust of the system by the public.

"The time has come for everyone working to stop pointing accusing fingers at one another and to work together to restore public confidence in the reality, speed, and fundamental fairness."

Lottery drawing location

HARRISBURG (UPI) — The Lottery Bureau says the eighth weekly drawing in the state's lottery will be held Wednesday in the Bethlehem-Easton area of Northampton County.

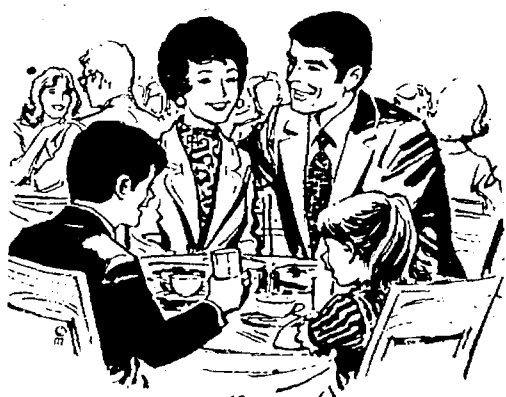

The drawing will be at Notre Dame High School in Bethlehem Twp. at 10:30 a.m.

The bureau said the next weekly drawing will be held May 10 in Monongahela and will be followed immediately by the semi-final drawing for the second "Sudden Millionaire" lottery.

The bureau announced the May 17 regular drawing will be in Wilkes-Barre and the May 24 drawing in Johnstown.

Sometimes I wonder — would things be falling up if Isaac Newton had kept his mouth shut?

The thing that makes going to the dentist so tough is preparing for that long hard grind.

Prettiest hot pants I've seen recently were 10% cotton and 90% Sylvia.

Today we have rugs that don't show the dirt and movies that do.

It isn't your position that makes you happy or unhappy. It's your disposition.

Your disposition will be good if you shop at Rosen's Furniture. Most everyone who does feels good. Here's the comment of Mrs. J.D., Belrose, N.Y. "Service was excellent. Mrs. Kimball's advice and patience with our needs was (and is) fantastic. Deliverymen were extremely courteous, cheerful and efficient. We intend to keep shopping at and recommending Rosen's."

A 10-story air cleaner doesn't run on flashlight batteries.

Imagine a vacuum cleaner-like machine 10 stories high that filters 6 tons of dust and fumes out of 800 tons of air—every hour.

That's some antipollution device. It was installed recently in an automobile foundry.

Now, imagine the electricity it takes to keep that monstrous machine going. 129,600,000 kilowatt-hours a year. About as much as 50,000 people use in their homes. A lot of power.

But if air pollution is to be controlled, it'll take mammoth machines like this one and power to match.

Most industrial air-pollution problems respond to one or a combination of three basic cleaning methods. The filter system—like the one described above, where air is filtered through fabric bag or the like.

The electrostatic precipitator—electrically charged plates capture charged pollutants much as clothing grabs lint. The scrubber—fine sprays of water trap particles and gases; washing the air like a good rain.

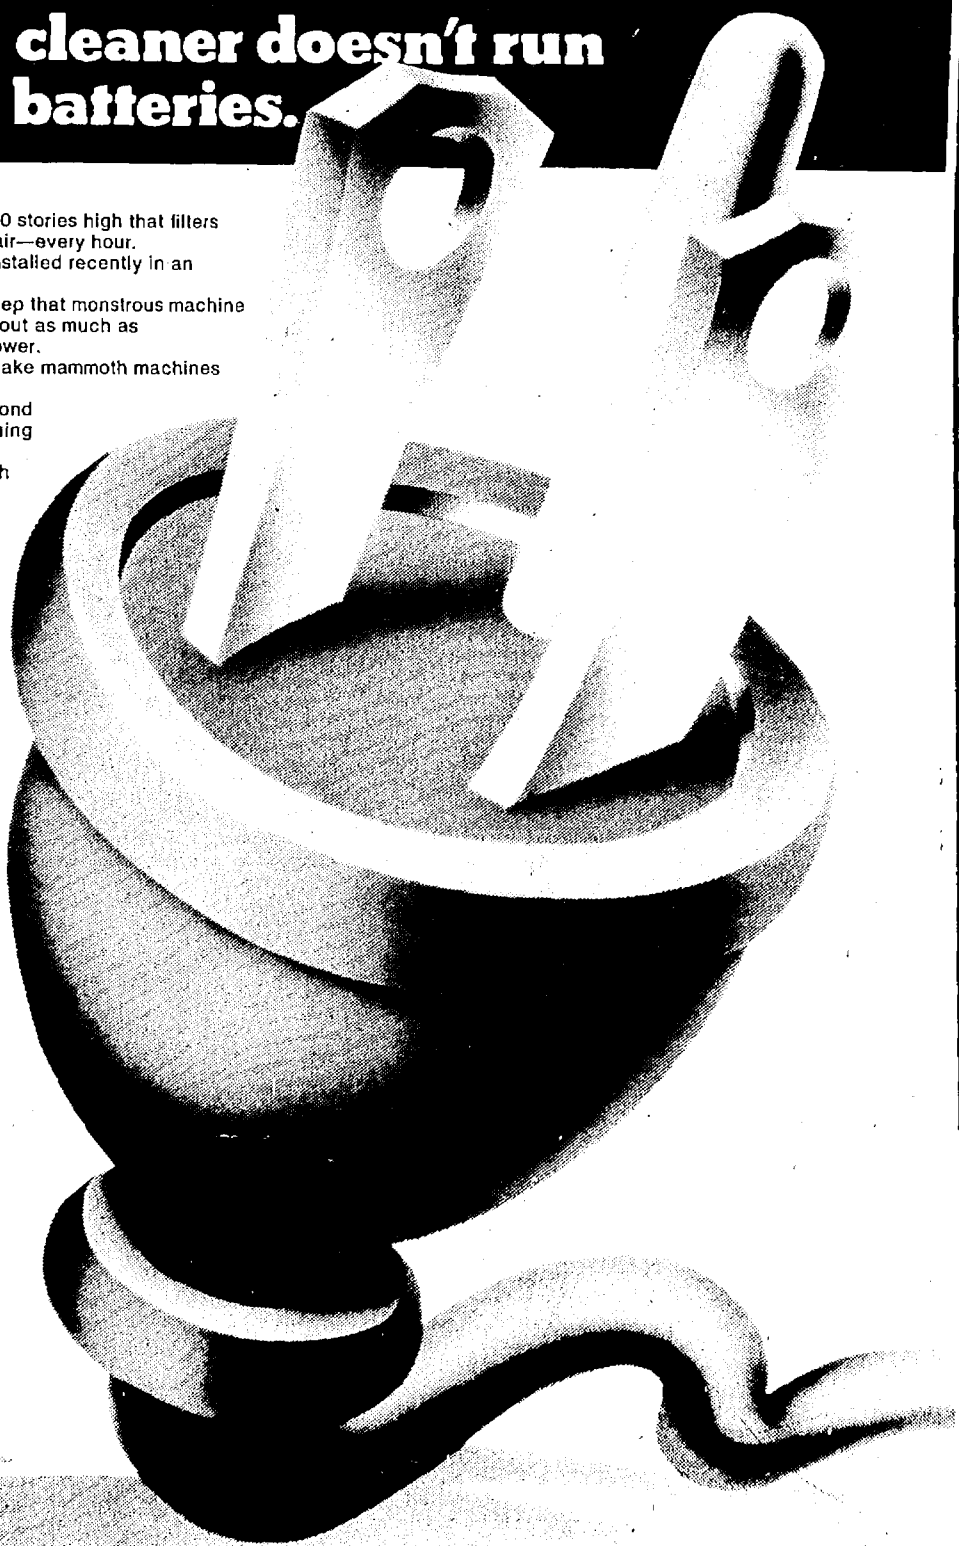

Each needs electricity to do its job. And as all of us get more and more into cleaning up the environment, electricity will be needed to power more and better environment cleaners.

Of course, the electric industry is no exception. The industry has spent almost a billion dollars on air-pollution control equipment and has much more committed.

And while we're busy cleaning up our own backyards, we're also needed to help everyone else. By making sure there's enough electricity to power their pollution-fighting machines, too.

Our country's ability to do the work that needs to be done will depend on an adequate supply of electricity. There's no time to waste. New generating facilities must be built, and built in a way compatible with our environment. We'll continue working to do this. But we need your understanding today to meet tomorrow's needs.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

The answer to the question "Does it feel good to be back?" is "Not yet". Not until I recover from the double time lag, which with daylight saving time, amounts to eight hours, so that my deadline of 9 p.m. is now 5 a.m. in Athens where I had established my sleeping habits over the three weeks.

It is one of the hazards of the jet age — and speaking of jets, we flew over in a 747, which is an experience. It's like a mobile Sherman 1 and 2 laid end to end filled with 250 people, and double aisles. Be prepared to make decisions even before you leave the ground.

You have to decide whether to sit in "Smoking" or "No Smoking" and which movie to see "General" or "Mature" or none — since the earphones cost for economy class. Once in your seat you have to decide its inclination, air conditioning, lighting and whether to inflate or deflate the lumbar pillow — and then which entre you want: Filet mignon, seafood Newburg or chicken chausser.

There was something going on all across the Atlantic but it still seemed long with a midnight supper followed in a few hours by breakfast, lunch and an early dinner before, 13 hours later, we landed at the new airport in Athens.

"Well," said one of the Bridge Foursome as we were disgorged, "It looks just like 'Pen Argy!'. And, you know, for a minute it did, surrounded by bare-topped hills, billboards, gas stations and our motley crew.

But that was the last time we saw anything that looked like home until we landed at Kennedy on our way back. Offered a choice of a 747 or a non-stop 707 which arrived about the same time, we opted for the 707, less glamorous but also less crowded, cozier and with more individual attention from stewardesses and crew.

Oh yes! About the bridge which started this odyssey. We played 39 rubbers. In airports where it came in very handy especially when we were delayed three hours at Kennedy and two hours in Corfu, on the ferry, on hotel balconies and ladies parlors, in ship staterooms and desert-lounges.

In the final tally, as the major loser, I had gained a new humility and lost a total of 64 drachma. But we had all gained new friends, new interests, depth of knowledge a more relaxed pace and wonderful memories.

From now on, I'll concentrate the columns on you and catching up with your news, both gay and grave — but don't expect any of us to talk about anything but our trip all summer long. The siren songs still sound from the Greek islands.

Sorority plans banquet for mothers

STROUDSBURG — Kappa Omicron chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, of Stroudsburg, will entertain the mother-daughter banquet at Sheraton Pocono Inn on May 29, it has been announced.

Mrs. John Bitzer has been elected president of the chapter for the coming year.

As one of the closing acts of her administration, retiring president, Mrs. Robert Irwin presented the Order of the Rose degree to Miss Carolyn French of East Stroudsburg.

The Order of the Rose is an honor designed to express gratitude and esteem by a chapter toward a member notable for her fidelity to the ideals of the sorority for 15 years.

At the meeting held at the home of Mrs. Ronald Fish, Miss French was presented with a certificate signed by international officers, an Order of the Rose guard, and a yellow rose.

The chapter also took part in the 41st anniversary banquet of the organization founding held in Easton with representatives from Easton, Allentown and Stroudsburg. The history of the local chapter was reviewed by Mrs. Daniel Boyle.

DAR regents honored by DAR chapter here

STROUDSBURG — Past regents of Jacob Stroud Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution were honored and new members recognized at the anniversary tea held in the Stroud Community House which was decorated with bouquets of yellow forsythia.

Mrs. Frank DeRosa presided at the meeting when along stemmed red rose was presented to past regents, Mrs. T. Manning Curtis, Mrs. Howard Flagler Jr., and Mrs. Dale H. Learn. Cards were signed to be mailed to Mrs. Floyd Bachman who was unable to attend, and to past regents living out of the area: Dr. Edna L. Rosenkrans, Mrs. Irving Lutz and Mrs. William E. Andrew.

Five new members were presented with sashes: Mrs. George Royle, Mrs. Donald Bentzoni, Mrs. Russell Transue, Miss Kathryn Bush and Miss Louise Rhodes Ellison.

Delegates to the 81st Continental Congress in Washington, D.C. Mrs. Frank DeRosa and Mrs. Russell Feller, gave reports of activities.

The chapter received an honor roll certificate in the press room. At the Pennsylvania luncheon, Mrs. Robert Schade, author of the official bicentennial song, "A for America" presented it to the DAR to which she will donate all proceeds. Mrs.

DeRosa sang the song for the chapter with Mrs. E.W. Holden as accompanist.

They reported on being greeted by Mrs. Pat Nixon at the reception at the White House, and on the impressive opening ceremony greeting the President General, Eleanor Washington Sullivan Spicer, a descendant of George Washington's sister.

The delegates also reported a radical change in attire for fellow delegates with some DAR members turning up at the White House in pants suits.

The program for the tea was provided by Eleanor Fields Holden, past president of the Music Study Club of the Stroudsburgs, who played as piano solos Waltzes in E Minor and C Sharp Minor by Chopin and "Polonaise" by MacDowell.

She reported on the musical therapy in Veterans Hospitals, being sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Mrs. Howard Flagler Jr. and Mrs. Dale H. Learn presided at the tea table which was decorated with yellow jonquils, forsythia and yellow tapers. Hostesses were Mrs. Jefferson Ross, Mrs. Glenn Learn, Mrs. Otto Hoke and Mrs. Robert Ross.

The spring luncheon will be held at Pocono Manor on May 15 at 12:30 p.m. and a bake sale will be held May 19 at the Northeastern National Bank.

Robert S. Jacobs wins scholarship

STROUDSBURG — Robert S. Jacobs, of 513 Sarah St., Stroudsburg, has been named a National Merit Scholarship winner.

The Stroudsburg High School senior will receive a $1,000 scholarship from the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company.

Jacobs was one of only 62 winners selected from Pennsylvania schools for the award.

He is presently serving as the student body representative to the school board, vice president of the student council, co-editor of the student newspaper, yearbook literary editor, a member of the band, a member of the district band, a member of the staff of the literary magazine, a member of the National Honor Society and a member of the varsity tennis team.

Jacobs began the competition for the scholarship in February of 1971 when approximately 657,000 students in some 16,600 schools took the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

He was then named among the 15,000 semifinalists in September of last year.

Approximately 96 per cent of the semifinalists each year advance to finalist standings.

To become a finalist, the student must be a U.S. citizen or be in the process of obtaining U.S. citizenship, must be a fulltime student, and must substantiate his qualifying test scores with another examination.

He must also file a record of extracurricular activities, special achievements and interests, academic or other honors and similar data.

The student's school also submits his academic record, and an evaluation and endorsement of the student by the principal or counselor.

The winners of the scholarships were chosen by a selection committee formed of college and school admissions counselors

Rollin G. Berger, Sr.

BUCK HILL FALLS — Rollin G. Berger, Sr., died Sunday evening at his home at Buck Hill Falls. He was the husband of Myrle C. Berger, at home.

He had been a resident of Buck Hill Falls for the past 25 years, and had been a lifelong visitor to the Poconos.

Born in New York City, he was the son of the late Rudolph G. and Elizabeth (Cuddy) Berger. His father was a partner in the law firm, Berger and Rollins, Brooklyn, N.Y. He was a retired chief expediter for Unirloy Inc., New York City.

He was a member of the 7th Regiment, Company 1, New York City, and past vice president of the Sodality of St. Ignace Loyola, New York City.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by three sons, Rollin, Jr., of Sparta, N.J., and James and Frederick at home.

A Mass of Resurrection will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Thursday from St. Bernadette's Roman Catholic Church, Canadensis.

Viewing will be from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday at the Richard J. Kiofach Funeral Home, successor to Dunkelberger & Kiofach Funeral Home, 134 Broad St., Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Anna M. Cramer

EAST STROUDSBURG — Mrs. Anna M. Cramer, 81, of Bangor, died Monday in the General Hospital of Monroe County. She was the widow of Arthur Cramer, former Bangor postmaster.

Born in Bangor, she was the daughter of the late Martin L. and Mary (Eilenberger) Smith.

She was a member of St. John Evangelical and Reformed United Church of Christ; the Elbel Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, Bangor; and the Ladies Auxiliary of Emlen Evans Post, The American Legion, Bangor.

There are no survivors. Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday from the Hough Home for Funerals, Market and Second Streets, Bangor, with Rev. Albert Kovacs officiating.

Viewing will be from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday at the funeral home.

Burial will be in St. John's Cemetery.

Funeral Notice

RANDALL, Margaret M., of Tannersville, April 27, 1972, Age 76. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend funeral services Tuesday, May 2 at 8:00 p.m. in the Dunkelberger and Kiofach Funeral Home. Further services will be held in the Chapel at the West Laurel Hill Cemetery, Philadelphia on Wednesday, May 3 at 2:30 p.m. Interment West Laurel Hill Cemetery.

Speakers set for ESSC conference

EAST STROUDSBURG — Dr. Vincent R. Rogers, chairman of the department of elementary education at the University of Connecticut, and Dr. Masako Tanaka, research psychologist for the Educational Testing Service in Princeton, N.J., will be the keynote speakers at the first annual conference of the School of Education at East Stroudsburg State College.

Four added to payroll

STROUDSBURG — Meeting in regular monthly session, the Monroe County Salary Board placed the following persons on the county payroll.

Mary Lewczak as a kitchen helper at Pleasant Valley Manor for $2.11 an hour; Barbara Anthony as a secretary-bookkeeper at Pleasant Valley Manor for $90 per week; Judith Brison as a parttime secretary for the District Attorney's Office at $2.10 an hour.

Also, Sally Frantz as a secretary to District Magistrate Graddon Pretorius for $2.10 an hour.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Francis Miller and Mrs. Janet Brands — custodial staff members for the courthouse.

Rogers, scheduled to speak at 9 a.m. on May 12, will discuss "The Case for Open Education."

He has served as a Fulbright Scholar at the University of London, and as a visiting professor at Johns Hopkins University School of Advanced International Studies Institute for Secondary School Teachers in Italy, York University in England, the University of Washington and Utah State University.

Dr. Tanaka will discuss "Some Directions for the Evaluation of Open Classrooms" at 9 a.m. on May 13. She was a former assistant foods editor of "Parents" magazine and a junior high school teacher before becoming involved with educational research.

Her current projects are centered in the early education group which is working on the Bell Laboratory Day Care Evaluation, Head Start studies and an open classroom teacher interview project.

The conference is designed for participation by public and parochial school teachers and administrators, college teachers and others interested in the proposition of open education.

Cooperating agencies in the conference include the Campus Learning Center, Educational Development Center, Research and Information Services for Education, Intermediate Units 18, 19, 20 and 21, and the Elementary Kindergarten, Nursery Association of Pennsylvania.

Persons interested in further details concerning the conference may contact the Campus Learning Center at the college.

Vo-tech school directors name 13 of 14 instructors

STROUDSBURG — The joint committee of the Monroe County Area Vocational-Technical School named 13 of the 14 teachers Monday night the Bartonville school will need.

The action was unanimous and came on the joint recommendation of James Bell, outgoing director, and Dr. Walter E. Brown, new executive director. An instructor for the graphic arts shop has yet to be picked.

The teachers and their shop area are:

—Auto body: George A. Kocher III, an instructor in the Chester County Vocational-Technical School for four years. The Downingtown resident has eight years trade experience.

—Auto mechanics: Douglas W. Henry, of Stroudsburg. Henry has eight years experience as an auto mechanic plus eight years as a service manager in auto mechanics.

—Carpentry: Ronald G. Weber, of Washington, N.J. Weber taught high school woodshop for one year in New Jersey and has over 14 years trade experience.

—Cosmetology: Magdalen Swatt, who has eight years of teaching experience, two at a vo-tech school and six at beauty schools. The Lehigh Valley resident has one year of trade experience.

—Data processing: David Feather, of Bath. He taught data processing in the Eastern School District for three years and has two years trade experience.

—Drafting: Edward Wagner, Jr., of Easton. He taught for two years at the Warren County (N.J.) Technical Institute and has six years trade experience.

—Electrical technology: Eugene Roginsky, of Allentown. He has 13 years of trade experience in electricity and electronics and has taught at the Warren County Technical School for a half-year.

—Food services: Gary T. Fish, of Stroudsburg. Fish has eight years of trade experience.

—Health assistant: Harriet Nevil, who has four years of trade experience as a nurse. The Stroudsburg R.D. 2 resident has a bachelor's degree from East Stroudsburg State College and graduated from the Hahnemann School of Nursing.

Water Gap police official resigns

By A.P. CESARE
Pocono Record Reporter

DELAWARE WATER GAP — Delaware Water Gap Borough Council accepted the resignation of Police Chief John Uporsky Monday night.

Uporsky, who served the tiny southern Pocono community for three and a half years, told council he has accepted a position at the new Howard Johnson motel which is expected to open soon in Water Gap. The resignation is effective Friday, May 5.

Council praised the chief's work. President John Wilson called him "a darn good cop" and wished him the very best in the future.

A special meeting of the borough police committee was held after Uporsky's resignation letter of last week. At the session, parttime policeman Bill Snow was informed of the situation. It was reported that Snow was not interested in assuming the chief's post.

In his parting remarks, Uporsky said he "liked the people of Delaware Water Gap, he old ones and the young ones. We got along pretty good. I especially like the kids, you got a good bunch of kids here, too."

Council again found itself immersed in water rate dilemmas. Since the new rate was placed in effect in January, several residents questioned the increases.

Cyrus Wood, a summer resident of borough, received word he would be liable only for service rendered and that his fee of $51.60 was based on an annual rate. The quarterly domestic rate is now $12.90 (previously it was $8).

Wood said he was in the area only part time and that he did not live in the borough during the winter period.

He will be billed quarterly for the period the water service is provided, council said.

Steve Matos, owner of several residences and at least two commercial businesses, is withholding payment of water service pending a settlement of last year's outstanding balance. Matos claimed he was overcharged and is holding up payments until the situation is rectified.

Solicitor John Hiscott informed council he has a release available to settle the debt outstanding but is awaiting a release from Matos' attorney.

Policing question answered

STROUDSBURG — Primary responsibility for enforcing the law in the federal Tocks project area rests with state and local officials, according to the United States Department of Justice.

In a communication to the Monroe County Commissioners Monday, the justice department stated the federal government has not acquired exclusive or concurrent jurisdiction over the lands comprising the Tocks project area.

"The Federal Government's power to act is restricted mainly to enforcement of federal laws of general application such as theft of government property," wrote Henry E. Petersen, assistant attorney general.

The question of law enforcement on the federal lands came to public attention following a Governor's Justice Commission report citing the conflict between squatters and local law enforcement officials.

Referring to federal regulations, Petersen wrote, "It appears doubtful, however, that any regulations which may apply to the area may serve as a basis for resolving the conflict between the squatters and residents."

Corps control
The purchase of properties for the dam site and permitting the former owners and squatters to occupy the houses are matters within the jurisdiction and control of the Corps of Engineers, and not this department.

Commission Chairman Mrs. Nancy B. Shukaitis commented on the latter, saying, law enforcement on the project lands may become the responsibility of the federal government after the United States acquires exclusive jurisdiction in the Tocks area. Mrs. Shukaitis interpreted the letter to imply that jurisdiction acquisition may take place.

The commissioners noted the receipt of $25,215 from the state as Monroe County's share of $8 million appropriated to supplement local judicial costs.

In other action, the commissioners awarded a $65,269 contract to Harry DePuy Inc., Bangor for construction of a single 48 foot span over McMichael Creek in Chesnut Hill Township.

Another bid — for fuel oil at Pleasant Valley Manor — was awarded to John H. Parker. The bid offered number two grade fuel oil to the county at 12.88 cents per gallon.

Hamilton residents voice desire

Planning unit demanded

By MAUREEN RUFFE

BARTONVILLE — More than 30 irate residents appeared before the Hamilton Township Supervisors Monday night demanding the board establish a local planning commission immediately.

Group spokesman Albert Everett presented a petition to the supervisors containing the names of 179 residents who insisted on the move.

Soil conservationist assumes new duties

STROUDSBURG — James S. Johnson, district conservationist for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service (SCS) at Stroudsburg for the past three years, assumed duties in a new position at Flint, Mich. Monday.

Before his transfer, Johnson was administratively responsible for the operations of the SCS in Carbon and Monroe Counties. In his new position,

Toby Tones to perform

STROUDSBURG — The "Toby Tones," Tobyhanna Army Depot's choral group, will give two concerts Wednesday in the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg area.

The first performance is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. for guests at Stroud Manor, East Stroudsburg, and the second is set for 3 p.m. for members of the MORA Club at the Monroe County YMCA.

The Tones, all government employees, perform at special depot functions and observances, and before community groups.

Everett said the residents were concerned about junk cars and trailers devaluing their property.

At one point a resident launched a verbal attack against Supervisor Ray L. Mackes, charging the supervisor was against planning altogether.

He also said Mackes refused to let the supervisors approve the citizens' proposal. Mackes said he never was against planning.

he will now administer SCS operations in the 13-county area around Flint.

Johnson's career with the SCS began as a student trainee in Wisconsin in 1957 and has included positions throughout Wisconsin and Beaver and Indiana, Pa. prior to assuming his assignment in Stroudsburg.

He was honored at a farewell testimonial following the recent meeting of the Monroe County Soil and Water Conservation District.

During the meeting's business session, a Memorandum of Understanding between the district and the Pennsylvania Fish Commission was reviewed and signed.

An awards banquet, scheduled for sometime in May, was discussed to honor the outstanding conservationists of the year on the county level.

It was announced the Four-County Dinner, involving Monroe, Carbon, Pike and Wayne counties, will be held on Tuesday at Honesdale.

The executive council meeting will be held on Saturday at State College, beginning at 9 a.m.

Police study urges better communications system

By GARY GROSSMAN
Pocono Record Reporter

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Commissioners Monday released part two of a Governor's Justice Commission report outlining $84,164 worth of changes in county police communications.

The $46,702 study conducted by Information Development Associates provides guidelines for county-wide police communications systems in the 15-county Northeast Region of Pennsylvania.

Implementation of the study is expected to commence within the next two months.

The theory underlying the study bases effective law enforcement on communications systems rather than increased patrol schedules.

Stating the current condition of police communications in Monroe County, the study says the Monroe County Communications Center located in East Stroudsburg does all the dispatching for police, fire and ambulance units employing a low band frequency.

"The center has trouble with coverage in the Tobyhanna Township-Pocono Lake area," states the report.

Because of coverage problems encountered with the present systems, Information Development Associates recommends moving the transmitter site from Stroudsburg to a high peak centrally located in the county.

It is recommended the low band frequency be maintained because of the terrain in Monroe County and the ease of integration with Pike County.

The dispatch center should remain in the Stroudsburg area according to the report.

The entire system of police communication for the 15-county region projects 21 police districts based on communications networks.

Funding for the project would be 75 per cent federal

Commissioners receive plan

Water survey proposed

STROUDSBURG — A proposal for an independent survey on Monroe County's water resources which would take 90 days and cost between $13,000 and $20,000 has been submitted to the Monroe County Commissioners.

The plan comes from Moody and Associates, Inc., professional ground water developers of Meadville. It offers to evaluate and catalog the water resource potential of the county and establish the effect of Alternative 5 of the TRES Report.

Alternative 5 of the TRES Report is the proposed giant sewer facility encompassing three states suggesting a looping pipeline in the Tocks Region with interceptors to local municipalities.

The plan offered by Moody and Associates would determine the effect of the proposed sewage treatment plant on the ground water recharge in Monroe County.

A detailed outline of the services Moody proposes in conjunction with Edward Hess Associates, county engineer, is as follows:

Definition of the hydrologic limits of the county, precipitation records and patterns, the same for evaporation amounts and records, soil permeability as it affects recharge and runoff, type and structure of rock formations as it would affect water availability and development potential.

Also, an inventory of surface water supply and ground water supply applied to usage patterns by industrial, municipal, commercial and domestic consumption, an inventory of current sewerage facilities and disposal practices.

The work outlined by the water planners will cost $30 per hour plus technical time rates and mileage and direct costs. Estimated total cost will thus amount to $13,000-$20,000.

Acceptance of the proposal by the county is possible by funds funneled through the justice commission over the next five years.

Pending economic feasibility, the study foresees integration with Carbon and Pike Counties. The cost analysis for Monroe County is based on equipment changes including radios, recording equipment, walkie-talkies, and a radio tower.

The study recommends a switch to one emergency telephone in Monroe County following integration with Carbon County.

The updating of the police communications system is phased in three parts dividing the five year period of modernization.

One problem facing the implementation of the plan is the division of telephone service in Monroe County. Palmerston, Commonwealth and Bell Telephone Companies currently divide service in the county.

The justice commission announced priority will be given applicants for funds who wish to establish a complete system. Any units not joining in initial district applications will not be reviewed until all identified districts have had an opportunity to apply.

The Monroe County Commissioners were given the study, but any county initiative toward joining the outlined program will probably have to be made by local law enforcement agencies.

When the Justice Commission sent the commissioners its initial report in January, the Monroe officials expressed confusion over the purpose of the Justice Commission and its relationship to Monroe County.

Regional Director Harry Russ, Jr., subsequently told Commission Chairman Mrs. Nancy B. Shukaitis the Justice Commission offers information and an opportunity to use federal funds to improve law enforcement.

Russ said any specific programs for Monroe County will have to be spurred by local law enforcement officials. To date, no interest in the Justice Commission's offerings has been recorded in Monroe County.

signing and returning one copy of the plan.

Commission Chairman Mrs. Nancy B. Shukaitis spearheaded the push for a water study in Monroe County after a conference with the Bethlehem Water Authority regarding the authority's water rights in Monroe County.

The commissioners had been asked to intervene when the Bethlehem Authority threatened the right of eminent domain over approximately 70 privately owned acres in Tuckhannock Township.

Mrs. Shukaitis continued to press for the water survey after the Delaware River Basin Commission announced its intention to go ahead with the construction of Alternative 5 in order to secure environmental purity in the Tocks reservoir.

Throughout the negotiations with the DRBC the county considered establishing a county-wide water and sewer authority.

The proposed survey may be part of the ongoing process aimed at preserving the county's water resources. It is expressly aimed at the DRBC's proposed sewer plan.

Officials consider operation of pool

MOUNT POCONO — Mount Pocono Borough councilmen discussed their intention to operate a municipal swimming pool during the summer months at their regular monthly meeting Monday evening.

The pool, operated last year by the Rotary Club, will be leased from owner George Colovis at the site of the former High Point Inn located at the traffic light in the borough.

During a discussion of the necessity of hiring a lifeguard and operator, borough solicitor Peter O'Brien pointed out YMCA personnel have expressed an interest, a matter recreation committee chairman Bernard Pallo said he will investigate in addition to liability insurance and the sale of family memberships.

It was announced that beginning on May 5 and running through October, refuse will be collected semi-weekly on every Monday and Friday.

In addition, spring clean-up pickups have been scheduled for May 24 for that portion of the borough east of Route 611 and May 25 for the western area.

Consultant decision delayed

TANNERSVILLE — The Pocono Township Planning and Zoning Commission met in special session Monday night to consider the rehiring of Miller Associates from Tamaqua, a consulting firm, but the decision was delayed.

The move was prompted by the presence of representatives from Achtermann Associates, of East Stroudsburg, and Edward C. Hess Associates, of Stroudsburg, who told the commission members their respective companies were interested in being considered for the contract.

Since neither company was familiar with the scope of the work desired by the township, the planning and zoning commission asked the company spokesmen to submit a proposal for the one year contract by Thursday night.

The Thursday night meeting of the group, which begins at 7 p.m. in the municipal building, had been set aside to complete work on the subdivision ordinance with Miller Associates, whose contract runs out in July.

The members, who have been faced with numerous legal questions during recent meetings, voted unanimously to request the township supervisors to have the solicitor present at one of their two monthly meetings.

In an addendum to the motion, the members included a request to have the solicitor present the same meeting night the consultants attend.

Other business

In other business, Police Chief Robert Hartman noted a preliminary survey of the need for sidewalk repairs within the borough has shown most of Fairview Avenue will require restorations.

Once the survey is completed, property owners will be notified concerning the necessary repairs.

Following Hartman's report, the council agreed to purchase a narcotics testing kit for the police force. Also, $1,754.45 will be transferred to the council's checking account to purchase a new patrol car for the borough.

Charles Sandel, street lights committee chairman, reported he is investigating the need for additional street lights within the borough, particularly in the center of town.

Votes stay unchanged

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Board of Elections announced Monday no unusual variation between last Tuesday's unofficial vote count and the official vote count had been discovered.

The official vote count shows no changes among the candidates reported winning nominations or elections. Columns found blank on unofficial returns Tuesday were filled in on official return sheets with the exception of three districts.

The correction takes care of all previously missing returns.

Blue Cross hike okayed

HARRISBURG (UPI) — The Insurance Department Monday granted a $2.4 million rate increase to Blue Cross of Northeastern Pennsylvania.

The 9.4 per cent hike will affect about 500,000 subscribers in Monroe, Pike, Carbon, Bradford, Clinton, Lackawanna, Lycoming, Luzerne, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Tioga, Wayne and Wyoming counties.

The increase was half of what Blue Cross requested.

Staples pitches, bats E.S. to 8-3 win over Mounties

EAST STROUDSBURG — Bob Staples collected three hits in three times, at bat Monday and picked up the win as he pitched East Stroudsburg to an 8-3 baseball victory over Stroudsburg.

The non-league victory was the sixth in nine games for the Lehigh-Northampton Northern Division leader. Stroudsburg is now 2-8.

Staples for all of its runs in the second inning. After Steve and Gary Smith beat out infield hits, Jim Hopkins got on through an error to lead the bases.

Staples then walked Glen Yetter to force in Steve Smith. Gary Smith and Hopkins scored when Steve Martz committed a two-base error on a ball hit by Lew Silver.

The Cavaliers narrowed the margin to 3-2 in the bottom of the inning. After Staples singled to center and Martz walked, Gene Dickson reached on Al McCormick's error to load the bases. Zolton Szeredi then unleashed a single to right to drive in Staples and Martz.

The Cavaliers iced the game in the third when they sent nine men to the plate and scored five runs. Charlie Gallagher started it off with a double to left and Kim Walck walked. Bob Beck then drove in Gallagher with a single to left.

After Walck went to third and Beck to second, Dan Whitaker hit a sacrifice fly to left, driving in Walck and Beck, to third. Staples then added another single, driving in Beck. Martz then unloaded a two-run homer over the centerfield fence for the fourth and fifth runs of the inning.

East Stroudsburg added its final run in the sixth when Gallagher walked and then was thrown out on Walck's fielder's choice. Walck then stole second, went to third on a passed ball and scored on Glen Yetter's error of a ball hit by Whitaker.

Overpeck leads Bears' assault

STROUDSBURG — Mitch Overpeck set one school record and tied a second Monday and Pleasant Valley broke three more school marks, but lost an 84-29 track decision to Stroudsburg.

In another meet Mark Adams won three first places to lead Stroudsburg to a 66-47 win over Pocono Mountain.

Overpeck broke his own record of 8-0 in the high jump, leaping 6-1. He also tied Jim Cameron's record of 10.4 in the 100-yard dash. Overpeck also won the 220-yard dash.

Jeff Coolbaugh finished second in the one-mile run, but broke his own record of 5:06.0 with a 5:01.0 finish. Chris Fisher finished third in the two-mile run, but broke his former mark of 11:46.0 with an 11:38.5.

Ali shows little trouble in decision over Chuvalo

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI)—Muhammad Ali showed George Chuvalo his fancy footwork for five rounds and then battered him into a bloody pulp in the next seven Monday night en route to an easy decision over the Canadian champ.

The decision was unanimous and hardly was there ever a doubt Ali would win it starting in the sixth round when he opened ugly cuts over Chuvalo's right eye and inside his mouth.

Referee Dave Brown gave Ali 90 points to 51 for Chuvalo in the five-point "must" system. Judges Tommy Keyes and Tommy Paonessa agreed, 58-51 and 61-46.

It was the former heavyweight's fifth victory on the comeback trail he hopes will lead to a return title fight this summer with champ Joe Frazier.

All, who raised doubts about his comeback months ago in a lackluster 15-round decision over Mac Foster, was his old self Monday night.

Weighing in at 217 1/2 to Chuvalo's 221, he set the tempo at the start and never was in trouble.

Chuvalo had an edge only in the fourth and fifth rounds when he cornered Ali and landed his best blows of the fight.

It was Chuvalo's 17th loss against 68 victories and two draws. About the only consolation he had was that he kept a no-knockdown streak alive.

Blue to report; expected to sign

CHICAGO (UPI)—Oakland Athletics Owner Charles O. Finley said Monday night pitcher Vida Blue would join the Athletics in Boston today and would sign his contract then.

"I am extremely pleased that Vida Blue has reconsidered my offer made to him in Chicago last week and is coming to Boston today to sign his contract and join the team," Finley said.

Blue, 23, who won 24 games for the Athletics last year and won the American League's Cy Young Award and was named the league's most valuable player. But he has refused to sign this year in a salary dispute with Finley.

"Last evening I slated to the wire services that I had a very enjoyable one hour telephone conversation with Vida Blue," Finley said. "I stated at that time I feel certain he will be back with the A's soon and predict he will still win 20 games in 1972."

Earlier in New York, Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn had said Blue was "prepared to sign his contract" in Boston today.

Kuhn had said Robert Gerst, an Oakland, Calif., attorney who had advised Blue in salary negotiations with Finley, had told him of Blue's decision.

It was believed that the contract calls for $63,000 for the 1972 season and represented a compromise between the $92,500 Blue originally asked and a $50,000 figure Finley had said was his "final offer."

Blue will not be permitted to put on an Oakland uniform unless he has signed a contract. The Athletics are scheduled to play night games with the Red Sox tonight and Wednesday and then return to Oakland for a night game with the New York Yankees on Friday.

Wallenpaupack loss sends Wayne league into tie

STROUDSBURG — North Pocono unloaded 14 hits Monday to gain a 14-4 win over Wallenpaupack and throw the Wayne County League back into tie.

The Trojans' win, coupled with Forest City's 3-0 win over Pocono Central Catholic, left the Buckhorns and Forest City at 4-1 in the league.

North Pocono scored five runs in the second inning, highlighted by Ed Holeyvinski's three-run homer. The Buckhorns closed it to 5-3 in the third when Kevin Gilpin tripled, Mike Dux was hit by a pitch, Mike McGinnis singled and scored on Brad Bidwell's double.

The Trojans got a three-run homer in the fourth from Ed Ambrozewitch and another three-run blast from Bob Kapple in the sixth to put the game away.

Steve Stettler got three singles to account for one-half of Pocono Central's output. But Forest City scored the only run it needed in the first on a double by Tom Glavich and Mike Susco's single. It added an insurance run in the third when Glavich hit another double and scored on Mike Wiliak's fielder's choice.

In another game Blair Academy took advantage of 13 errors and 11 stolen bases to hand Notre Dame of East Stroudsburg a 12-4 defeat.

After Blair took an 8-0 lead, the Spartans scored all of their runs in the fourth. John Woiwieski's homer drove in Bernie Bookheimer, who had singled, and Jeff Olenick's double drove in Mike Konawick and Art Weglin.

Indiana wins title in West

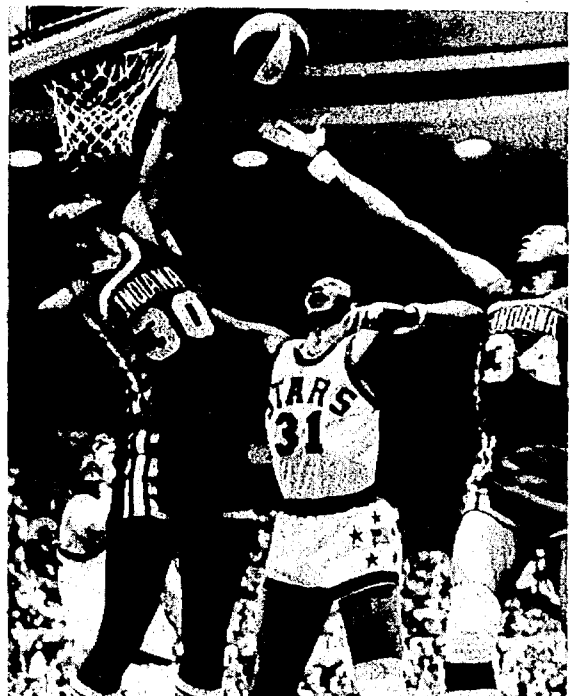

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The Indiana Pacers rallied from an early third period deadlock and used a balanced scoring attack to defeat the Utah Stars 117-113 and win the American Basketball Association Western Division crown Monday night in the Salt Palace.

Indiana will face the winner of the Virginia-New York Nets playoff for the ABA title. The Squires-Nets series is deadlocked 3-3.

The Pacers held off a determined seven point Utah attack in the final two minutes but it wasn't enough to overcome a Pacer 10 point lead.

It was a defensive ballgame for both clubs with Zelmo Beaty scoring 25 points for Utah and Roger Brown matching the 6-9 post man's output to lead the Pacers with 27.

Indiana became a Cinderella team through the victory after finishing the regular season with a lackluster 47-37 record and 13 games behind Utah.

Indiana's George McGinnis (30), Zelmo Beaty (31) of Utah and Pacers' Mel Daniels strain for rebound in ABA Western Division final Monday night.

Barry, Roche lead Nets to tie ABA playoff series

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI)—Rick Barry and John Roche, who combined for 22 straight points in the third period, totalled 80 points between them Monday night as the New York Nets defeated the Virginia Squires, 148-136, to tie their Eastern Division playoff finals at three games apiece. The Nets were leading, 79-64, when the two Net stars went on their scoring spree to give New York a 101-90 advantage entering the fourth quarter.

Virginia, which had to rally from two 16-point deficits, closed to 104-96 early in the final period, but Barry and Roche went on another point surge to put the game out of reach.

Barry led all scorers with 43 points and Roche netted 37. New York center Billy Paulitz tallied 23 and collected 14 rebounds. Julius Erving paced Virginia with 34 points and Bernie Williams had 33 for the Squires.

The seventh game of the American Basketball Association series will be played in Norfolk, Va., Thursday night. Each team has won three games on its home court.

Al Bianchi, Virginia coach, was ejected.

Indy lifts limit; Malloy turns 181

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Chief Steward Harlan Fenger gave drivers the green light late Monday at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway and Jim Malloy promptly hit 181 miles per hour.

Malloy, of Denver, Colo., was clocked at 181.415 m.p.h. The next fastest time recorded Monday was 171.168 m.p.h. by Johnny Rutherford of Fort Worth, Tex. Gordon Johncock of Mount Pleasant, Mich., turned a lap at 170.875 m.p.h.

Eleven cars were on the track as practice continued for the May 27 500-mile race. Rutherford, Lee Kunzman of Guttenberg, Iowa, and Rick Muther of Laguna Beach, Calif., were in cars making their 1972 debuts at Indianapolis.

Mike Hiss of Tustin, Calif., completed his rookie driver test and then turned a lap at 166.728 m.p.h.

Windy conditions helped keep speeds down. Malloy said he had to work to get his 181 m.p.h. lap. He had been clocked at 174 m.p.h. opening day, Saturday, and said it was relatively easy going. His crew had him timed at 179 that day.

Dick Simon of Salt Lake City escaped harm when the left front wheel of his machine locked in the first turn. The racer skidded 150 feet, but did not make contact with the wall. He drove the car into the pits. Until late Monday, Fenger had maintained a 170 m.p.h. speed limit. He lifted the restriction after determining the track was in top racing condition.

Earlier in New York, Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn had said Blue was "prepared to sign his contract" in Boston today.

Kuhn had said Robert Gerst, an Oakland, Calif., attorney who had advised Blue in salary negotiations with Finley, had told him of Blue's decision.

Blue will not be permitted to put on an Oakland uniform unless he has signed a contract. The Athletics are scheduled to play night games with the Red Sox tonight and Wednesday and then return to Oakland for a night game with the New York Yankees on Friday.

Rodriguez gains victory in Nelson golf playoff

DALLAS (UPI)—Juan "Chi Chi" Rodriguez, who has not won a tournament since the Sahara Open in 1969, tapped in a five-foot birdie putt on the first hole of a sudden death playoff to beat Billy Casper for the $25,000 first prize in the Byron Nelson Golf Classic Monday.

The little Puerto Rican who swears he has forsaken his long-standing clown prince role for a serious, studied golf game, made it pay off in the clutch after he and Casper had deadlocked over the regulation 72 holes at seven under par 273. Casper two-footed from about 20 feet for a par.

Rodriguez, who said he has been seriously practicing his short iron game for the first time in his career, had been pitching and chipping almost to perfection all the way through the tournament.

He used one of his short irons to pitch to within the birdie distance on the 553-yard par-5 playoff hole.

Casper won $14,308 for his runnerup finish. He had been seeking his first tour victory since the Kaiser International last October, but an outbreak of bogeys midway through his round cost him that chance.

Rodriguez, starting the day in second place one stroke back of Casper's eight-under-par 202, birdied the first hole from 10 feet and the two stayed tied for the lead until the seventh hole where Chi Chi hit a poor second shot and was short on the green. He pitched to within six feet but missed the par effort and fell a shot back.

Casper, however, fell back with him at the ninth when he pulled his tee shot into the trees and started a string of three straight bogeys that pushed Chi Chi back in front.

Casper birdied the 13th and 15th to pull back even and went ahead again when Rodriguez overshot the 16th green and missed a seven-footer.

Rodriguez sank a five footer for a birdie on the 17th to again knot it and they both parred the final hole to set up the playoff. Casper had a chance to wrap it up on the 18th but an 18-foot birdie effort slid by the rim of the cup.

The tournament was rained out Thursday, forcing Monday's final round instead of the usual Sunday finish.

Wilf Homenuik, the Canadian lightweight who has been the surprise of the tournament, missed a two-foot par putt on the 18th which cost him more than $2,200 as his 36-34-70 dropped him into a three-way tie for third place with Bruce Crampton and Charles Coody. They won $6,608 each.

Crampton shot a 34-35-69 with 17 pars and a birdie on the ninth, while Coody started the day at three-under par and wound up with a 35-35-68 on a scrambling round of four birdies and two bogeys over Preston Trail Golf Club's 7,086-yard par 35-55-70 layout.

Arnold Palmer almost put on one of his final round charges and was only one stroke off the pace after the 13th hole, but then had back to back bogeys and faded to a 33-35-68 that left him alone in sixth place at 276.

Chuck Thorpe, a sophomore on the tour, grabbed seventh place money of $4,000 with a blazing 36-hole finish of 65-68 after barely making the cutoff point of 144 after the first two rounds.

Jack O'Brian's

New York's Voice of Broadway

NEW YORK — Rose Kennedy, dining with friends, was congratulated on the record-breaking $1,550,000 guarantee for her memoirs ... "Really, I don't understand it," she protested, "I'm just a normal wife and mother. I never had a lover. I suppose I'm too old for one now." ... Rose is 82.

Mario Puzo has invested great wads of his "The Godfather" winnings in Las Vegas, at the tables ... Lyricist Howard Dietz worked to an emotional pitch up to the arrival of "That's Entertainment" on Bdw. with dozens of Schwartz-Dietz songs, and landed next day in Leroy Sanitarium. Howard's doctors gave his condition better reviews than the show got ... It flopped at a $100,000 loss.

Martin Gosch bought an option on Charles "Lucky" Luciano's life story, but the convicted executive pimp and Mafia biggest-boss included a ten-year delay proviso. It's up and the picture starts soon ... Whether they re-wed or not, actor Robert Wagner and his ex, Natalie Wood, will shack up in a London flat while he makes movies ... Milton Berle lost perky Peggy Cass as co-star of his summer-tour in "Last of the Red Hot Lovers" because he refused to give Peg billing above the show's title ... Peg rates it.

bought 100 tickets for the closed-circuit satellite-TV soccer doubleheader to be shown at the Felt Forum of Madison Square Garden April 29. Gave 'em to friends who entertained him lavishly as bread-&-butter so-long gifts.

Glenn Ford will do summer stock if he can find a play with a role for his son, Peter ... Anthony Quinn felt like a few Zorba-the-Greek dances at Sirocco. Asked four different middle-aged ladies — carefully skipped the gorgeous gals present. Didn't even stagger much while terping.

Jackie Coogan's blunt reply to why he wasn't asked to join the Charlie Chaplin Oscar ceremony: "Nobody asked me." ... Paramount's Frank Yablans and Bob Evans took a full-page Variety ad to congratulate Howard Koch for the "magnificent production" of the Oscarcast. The excitement remained only in the tension over who won the doorstops; the philosophical concept of the show was ridiculous — honoring a true, elder lunatic statesman like Chaplin and surrounding him with nouveau and never-were stars such as Joey Heatherton, Sammy Davis, Jill St. John, and similar cinema obscurities was magnificent stupidity.

Little girl we met when she was six, Raffaella de Laurentiss, 20-year-old daughter of Silvana Mangano and Dino de L., will wed Gipi Viale ... Bobby Van danced from the delightful "No, No, Nanette" into the impending "Lost Horizon" movie musical ... Sinatra's comeback lasted to the point where he couldn't dictate the music for his comeback flick to be handed to his favorite publisher ... Gene Hackman may get the role. For big money of course, with the help of Oscar.

Barbara Bel Geddes is ailing ... Rossano Brazzi dances into MGM's "The Great Waltz" ... Sean Connery has only one cousin in the whole world, and if he wants to cable him good-luck, kin Jamie Ross will among the cast of the Bdw.-bound Michael Brown musical, "Different Times." Playing an unbending Boston patriarch in the New England-dynasty drama.

Alexander Cohen, producer of Broadway's "Tony" stage awards, seriously is mulling negotiating for Radio City Music Hall next year as scene of the Tonycast. Could have sold out this year's show in the big (1,800 seats) Broadway Theater several times. The Music Hall seats more than 6,000 ... Barry Nelson is the latest to abhor Manhattan living. He's moving out of town — all the way to Argentina between movies ... Our exclusive here last year that Ginger Rogers and Bill Marshall would divorce just was corroborated almost a year later when Bill announced he'll wed right after the divorce ... Soap opera queen Eileen Fulton's wearing jewelry not expected to attract thieves: a bagel on a chain.

Sue Mengers is an American theatrical agent who candidly exposed one secret of the 10 per cent trade: "I'll only work for people aware of the realities," she told London interviewers. "I won't touch what I call Sunset Boulevard clients, people who want constant servicing. Like Christopher Plummer. He's a brilliant stage actor who couldn't make it in the movies. During the years you could ask big money for him you took his guff. Today you don't have to. Time spent on Plummer is time taken away from Barbra Streisand or Ryan O'Neal." Simply means Sue now concentrates on taking Streisand's and O'Neal's guff. How drab.

Ann Landers

Bad joker

Dear Ann Landers: I'm so hurt I don't know what to do. Please help me think my way through this. My husband and I have been married for more than 20 years. We have a wonderful family and I always thought our marriage was a good one — certainly better than most.

Last night we were at a reception, the sort of affair where people move from one group to another making small talk. I was speaking to some friends and my husband was behind me, visiting with another group. I heard someone say to him, "Hello, Jack. How's your wife?" My husband answered, "Better than nothing." Everyone laughed. The people I was visiting with heard it, too. I nearly died of embarrassment.

Why would a man make such a cheap joke about his wife? I haven't mentioned it to Jack and I don't know if I should. Please say something to get me out of this depression.

Bluer Than Blue
Dear Blue: Tell your husband you heard the remark and didn't think it was funny. Then forget it. What Jack says about Jill says more about Jack than it says about Jill.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I moved to a new town a few months ago. We haven't joined a church yet, but the minister from the church we've been going to has dropped in to see us five times and we haven't been home. We've run into him elsewhere and he always says, "I was by to see you a few days ago but you were out." The last time he worded it differently. He said, "I called on you yesterday but no one answered the doorbell." I'm sure he thinks we've been avoiding him intentionally.

I asked if he would please call next time before he comes by, and he seemed insulted. Now I wonder if I did the right thing. Is a minister supposed to call before he comes by or is he a privileged person and therefore not subject to the rules of etiquette? Please tell me. I'm —

Willing To Learn
Dear Will: It's good manners to call before coming by — no matter who you are. A minister who would make five drop-in calls and find no one at home is a slow learner.

WHICH BOY? (Q.) Roger is very nice to me and I like him very, very much. He is also a good boy. I mean he would never try to get fresh.

There is only one problem. He takes drugs. Not hard stuff, but things like uppers, downers, grass, and once or twice, speed. I know he could go on to harder stuff, but I am praying he won't.

I'm not allowed to date until my birthday. I'll be 14. Roger is 15. I'm hoping that when and if he does ask me out, he will realize I want to help him stop the drugs and let me help him.

If not, I'll tell him it's neither me or the drugs.

But Roger is not all. Jim is almost a complete opposite of Roger. He is on the honor roll, a football and basketball star too. He is good looking. His only problem is that he is stuck on himself and almost completely antisocial.

I don't know him well enough to know whether he would get fresh or not.

What I really want to know is: Is it better to go with a boy who respects me, likes me, is a good boy except for the drugs? Or is it better to go with an antisocial, stuck-up, honor student and sports star, who is probably a fast worker and respects no girl (as far as I know)?

Sandi in South Carolina
(A.) I suspect that instead of asking me you are trying to tell me, but I will put it to you straight.

You must accept the fact that neither Roger nor Jim may be interested in going out with you. In that case you would not be faced with making a choice.

That would be a blessing, because neither seems to be a good risk. I do not think you would be able to change either one of them into something much better.

It would make more sense to find a better-balanced boy — or boys — to date.

YOUNGER BOY: (Q.) Please tell me if you think I'm normal — or crazy, like some people say I am.

I'm 16 and in the eleventh grade. I like a boy who is 13 and in the ninth grade.

He likes me. We've liked each other for about two years now. He is four inches taller than I am.

Not About To Change in New Jersey

(A.) Many girls like boys younger than they are. They are not at all crazy and neither are you.

STRANGER: (Q.) You see a girl (a perfect stranger) at a basketball game and you would like to meet her. What do you do?

Eyes on One in Indiana
(A.) Walk up to her, introduce yourself and ask for her telephone number.

LONG WAIT: (Q.) Why should a girl wait and wait for a boy to ask her for her phone number? I am tired of waiting forever. How can I get a boy to ask me for my phone number?

So Dull at Home in Maryland

(A.) The next time you see the boy you have in mind, ask him to call you on the telephone and say, "So you will remember, here is my phone number." Then give it to him.

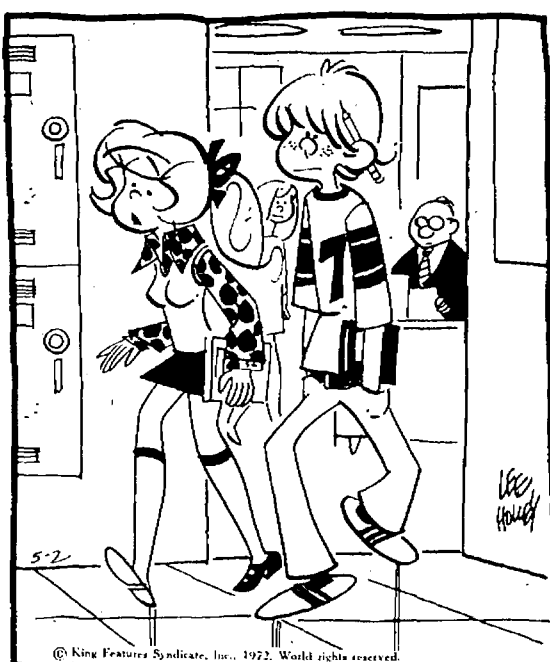

BREATH BARRIER: (Q.) I like my boy friend and like to be next to him. But sometimes I can't stand it. He has bad breath, very bad. He smokes, and that may be the cause. Is there any way I can jokingly talk to him about it? I certainly would not want to hurt his feelings.

Mouthwash Molly in Minnesota

(A.) Bad breath is no joke, so don't take that route. Be frank and direct, but sympathetic. Tell him, "I think it's your smoking, or maybe it's something else, but I sure wish you would get some mouth spray and keep it with you."
